MAYOR BACKS BATES' PLEA FOR MORE MEN

Appears Before Council Group Tonight to Seek $5,000 Hike in Police Budget.

WOULD ADD 4 OFFICERS

Chief Would Set Up Traffic Bureau, Launch Program to Reduce Accidents.

Mayor William J. Locke said today that he would go before council's finance committee, which meets tonight to draft the annual appropriation bill, with the plea for an increase of $5,000 in the police department budget to hire for additional officers.

Locke said he would base his plea on recommendations set forth in Police Chief Meade K. Bates' annual report, submitted to him today and which requests the additional patrolmen for establishment of a traffic department.

"I am highly in favor of a larger police force if it means a better control of the traffic problems in the city," the mayor added.

Aims At Traffic Problem.

He said solution of the traffic problem was one of the chief aims of the administration and that he would ask the committee to support the chief's plan to establish a traffic division

The chief's recommendations call for four additional officers and the replacement of one police cruiser.

Bates pointed out that he had sidetracked a request for replacement of additional motor equipment in the department in hopes of getting more patrolmen.

"There's a lot of room for improvement," the chief said in referring to the traffic problem. "With a traffic squad of six or eight officers we could institute an accident prevention program to lessen accidents and fatalities, which have shown an increase during the past two years."

He said his plan called for the establishment under a traffic bureau head of a squad of at least six officers, including an accident prevention squad, a motorcycle division and at least two patrolmen to enforce parking regulations.

Creation of the accident prevention squad would mean the outfitting one of the present radio-equipped cruisers with a camera and other devices for analyzing traffic accidents in an effort to reduce fatalities within the city.

PAYMENT O. K.'D

Senate Approves Giving Ohio Funds Withheld in '38.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate unanimously approved today legislation calling for paying to Ohio part of the social security funds withheld for the month of October 1938.

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) obtained consideration and prompt approval of a much-amended bill directing the Social Security board to determine the amount of old age assistance payments due the state because of a dispute between state and federal security officials.

The measure now goes back to the house, which had previously passed similar legislation, for consideration of the senate amendments.

INDICTED IN BANK ROBBERY

MARIETTA, O.— (U.P.)— Three men — Francis Walsh, William Curtis and Lawrence Curtis — were held for action by the Washington county grand jury today following their joint indictment on charges of robbing the Commercial bank at Lower Salem, O.

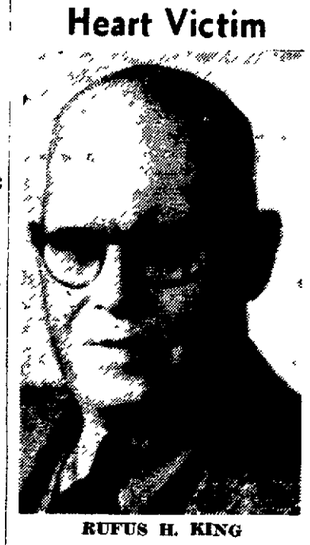
British Claim German Air Raiders Driven Off Coast In Hard Fighting

Heart Victim



RUFUS H. KING

RUFUS H. KING TAKEN BY DEATH

Member of Pioneer Family and Insurance Agent Succumbs to Heart Ailment.

Death came unexpectedly yesterday afternoon to Rufus H. King, 64, Mansfield insurance agent and a member of an old Richland county family, at his home, 117 West Second street, a few minutes after he had talked by telephone with his office.

Mr. King had been in ill health since suffering a heart attack several months ago but had been showing improvement. He died of coronary thrombosis.

A lifelong resident of Mansfield, he had a wide acquaintanceship and circle of friends through his business, his work as a former newspaper man and his club affiliations.

He was born in the old King home on West First street Oct. 5, 1875, the son of Jerome J. and Mary Miller King. His father was a son of a pioneer Richland county farmer.

Mr. King attended Mansfield schools and later was graduated from Ohio Northern university at Ada. He spent two years as a reporter on the Mansfield Daily Shield and two years in the circulation and advertising departments of the paper.

He entered the insurance business in 1914 and the following year became identified with his father in the Aetna Agency which his father had established here in 1894. He was made district agent for the company in 1926. His office was in the King building, Walnut street and Park avenue west, which was built by his father in 1894.

In 1898 he enlisted in old Company M, Eighth O. V. I and served in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, during which time he was made corporal in the famous "McKinley's Own" regiment.

He was a past commander of Camp Charles Dick, United Spanish

NO BOMBS DROPPED

Raids Repulsed at Several Shipbuilding Cities, Major Ports.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(U.P.)—An unidentified steamer, believed to be Italian, today was reported to have struck a mine off an east coast town.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—German raiders appeared today off the strategic Firth of Forth in Scotland and the estuaries of the Humber and Thames on England's eastern coast, the air ministry announced

No bombs were dropped and no alarms were sounded as the renewed flights of the Nazis over the British coast met quick resistance from British fighters and anti-aircraft batteries.

The Evening News said that the last 24 hours had been the busiest faced by the Royal Air Force since the war began and the British fliers "have had to fight their fiercest battles."

Today's flights brought the first German air visits of the war to the Tyneside, important shipbuilding and shipping center.

The air ministry said German planes attempting to bomb a merchant vessel off the Norfolk coast were intercepted and driven off by defense fighters.

Its communique said "considerable air activity off the east coast of England and Scotland" occurred during the morning and listed raids at Newcastle-on-Tyne, the Firth of Forth and the Humber and Thames estuaries.

Raiders Chased Away.

One plane appeared over South Shields, on the south bank of the Tyne. One report said three raid-

SQUIRE NAMED

Ex-State Official Elected as Tiffin Bank President.

TIFFIN, O.—(U.P.)—Samuel H. Squire, of Elyria, who will retire Jan. 15 as state superintendent of banks, today was elected president of the Tiffin National bank, a branch of the Bancohio corporation.

Named to succeed L. F. Wolls of Columbus, Squire will assume his new post Feb. 5 and reside in Tiffin.

Squire was president of the Lorain County Savings and Trust company, Elyria, when called upon by Governor Davey five years ago to head the state banking division. Squire resigned his state post several weeks ago.

He is former president of area No. 1 of the National Association of Banking Superintendents, a 33rd degree Mason and a former district governor of Rotary International.

And Still They Come---4 Dems, 4 G. O. P. Eye Seat In Congress

The list of those who would like to serve the 17th district in congress stood at eight today, with the likelihood that the number would be higher before many days have passed.

To date, four Democrats have announced they would seek their party's nomination in the May primary, and an equal number of Republicans have either announced or are expected to do so within a few days.

In addition to three Democrats who have already announced themselves as candidates for the nomination, B. B. Ferenbraugh, a Knox county entry whose home is in Danville, made public his candidacy yesterday. Already in the contest for the Democratic nomination are Author Louis Bromfield, Richland county gentleman farmer Frank Cave, Mansfielder and former speaker of the Ohio house, and W. E. Purdy of Coshocton county, who was the first Democrat to enter the contest.

There is still a possibility that former Congressman Charles West will get into the Democratic race, and there may be others.

On the Republican side, actual entries are State Representative J. Harry McGregor, Coshocton county, present party leader in the Ohio house, and

IDENTIFY CALL AS MOLESTER

Butler School Girl and Three Others Testify as Trial Gets Under Way.

A 14-year-old Butler school girl and three other witnesses, testifying today at the trial of George Call, 30, accused child molester, identified Call as the man who attempted to lure the girl from school early in December on the pretense that her mother had been injured.

Call, indicted by the grand jury on charges of rape and attempted rape, went on trial this morning in common pleas court before a jury of eight men and four women.

The girl, who was among several Call is accused of molesting in recent weeks, testified that he previously had tried to get her to go to his home to work, but she refused.

Her father, who testified next, said he had learned that Call had attempted to get the girl or her older sister to work for him, but he had refused to let them leave home.

Floyd Beal, principal of the Butler grade school, and Walter McAuley, the girl's teacher, related that Call had come to the school and asked to see the girl, telling them that her mother had broken her hip in a fall and he had come to take her home.

Beal said he refused to let the child leave school, suspecting from Call's behavior that he was making up the story.

Two 14-year-old Bellville school girls, one of whom Call is accused of assaulting last summer, were to testify later in the day.

Twelve witnesses were subpoenaed by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott to testify for the state. Atty. James Hoffman, appointed by the court, is counsel for Call Dead Cities Service Head's Will Filed For Probate In New York.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Henry L. Doherty's great fortune, composed mostly of Cities Service securities and Florida real estate, has been bequeathed in its entirety to his widow, who before their marriage 11 years ago had nursed him through a critical illness

The will of the 69-year-old utilities magnate, who died Dec 26 in Philadelphia, was filed for probate today. It was brief and the only beneficiary listed was Mrs. Grace Doherty, the widow

His entire fortune is in securities of Henry L. Doherty and Company, Inc., of which he owned all the stock This firm was set up in 1928

INDICTED BY U. S.

Two Crestline Men Cited on Counterfeiting Charge.

Philip Stefle and Herbert Richie, both of Crestline, were indicted today by a federal grand jury at Toledo on a counterfeiting charge.

The pair, arrested last summer by federal agents and Marshal R. L. Mick of Crestline, was accused of manufacturing spurious nickels and quarters in a basement room at Crestline.

Molds and metal used in making counterfeit coins were confiscated by the authorities when Stefle and Richie were apprehended in Crestline. The men were said to have passed the money in Crestline and at Port Clinton and Catawba island on Lake Erie.

The federal jury returned a total of 45 indictments including six against Lafe Jones of Fremont, charge with violating the migratory bid act.

SNOW BLANKETS ENTIRE STATE

Mercury Rises After 2-Inch Fall Here, Rain Expected Tonight, Colder Friday.

A new two-inch snow blanket covered the Mansfield area and most of Ohio today as winter began another attack after releasing its grip for a day.

Colder weather is due to spread over the state Friday, the weatherman said, but it is not expected to be as severe as the sub-zero blasts of the past week.

Only one point on the weather map—Miles City, Mont.—reported a below-zero reading today and most sections had temperatures well above freezing. In Mansfield and other Ohio cities temperatures went above freezing for the first time in nearly two weeks.

Mansfield streets and highways in the county area, already coated with slush and slippery, may become worse if snow turns to rain today, forecasters said.

Rain fell last night in southern Ohio, freezing as it fell to form ice over streets and roads. The mercury moved up to 36 degrees in Mansfield at noon and there was a possibility of rain before night.

County and state highway snow plows cleared much of the wet snow off highways this morning and all routes were open.

The snowfall ranged from two to three inches in all sections of the state except at Chardon, Painesville, and East Cleveland, where it was lighter.

Revision of House Numbering System Urged Again by Statler

Correction of Mansfield's haphazard house numbering system, a headache to strangers as well as natives, again topped a list of recommendations incorporated in City Engineer W. C. Statler's annual report submitted today

Statler's recommendation proposes no special system of marking nor the method for financing such a project. It merely states that a correction of the house numbering should be made where necessary.

For the fifth consecutive year, the report recommends a north-south highway in the western part of the city to connect Park avenue west with Springmill street and involving the construction of a viaduct over railroad tracks where a proposed street would cross them.

The report also carries the recommendation for the elimination of additional grade crossings within the city along with a suggestion to improve traffic conditions by rerouting through traffic on state and federal highways in the city.

Vacation of all alleys in the city that are not of any particular benefit to adjoining properties or the general public was another

3 Bodies Found; Rescue Crews Dig Into Debris

West Virginia Company Officials Hope Some Survive; Search Party Within Few Hundred Feet of Victims As Thousands Wait Word Of Kin.

BULLETIN

BARTLEY, W. Va.—(INS)—The body of a fourth coal miner killed in yesterday's mine explosion here was recovered early this afternoon.

(By Associated Press)

BARTLEY, W. Va.—Rescue crews found a third body today in the blast-torn Bartley No. 1 mine of the Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal corporation and struggled through debris to within a few hundred feet of the remaining 88 trapped men.

Company officials clung to the hope that some survived yesterday's explosion, but experienced miners in this squalid southern West Virginia coal community shook their heads and expressed fear all perished.

The known dead:

Roy Evans, 41, motorman, married, four children.

Charley Moffitt, 42, colored, married, four children.

One man still unidentified.

The body of Evans was discovered as rescue workers advanced to within 1,200 feet of the estimated center of the explosion which tore through three sections of the pit.

R. E. Salvati, vice president of the company in charge of rescue work, issued this statement at 8 a. m.:

"If we have luck, we should reach 65 or 70 men in a matter of hours."

He said those men were believed to be in the third and fourth left entries. Crews have penetrated more than 6,000 feet since they started, Salvati added.

Wives and children of the trapped miners and hundreds of curious who gathered near the mine stood dumbly in a cold, sleety rain waiting for word from the eight rescue crews.

Rescue Worker Carl J. Dickenson, emerging from the workings at 3 a. m., declared:

"It looks bad. I don't think there is much chance."

Later, however, the mine office reported the third rescue crew to enter the shaft had found the air "better" as it progressed toward the explosion scene.

Two bodies were found against a slate fall a quarter of a mile from the 620-foot shaft.

More than 2,000 persons gathered about the mouth of the mine greeted news of Salvati that rescue crews were progressing "in good shape" and that "the mine is not torn up at all as one would think."

Dead Air Handicap.

However, workers said they were handicapped considerably by dead air and had to build brattices as

GRANTS STAY IN BLACK TAX SUIT

Chief Justice Enjoins Wolfe From Assessing Estate Till Defense Appeal's Heard.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court today granted a temporary stay of proceedings to enjoin County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe from making an assessment of personal taxes against the estate of the late Frank B. Black until the high court hears a defense appeal for a certificate of tax immunity.

Attys Weldon and Huston, representing the Black estate, filed the appeal with the supreme court after the state board of tax appeals denied the immunity application.

Wolfe said he was informed of the chief justice's injunction shortly after noon. It was not learned when the court will hear the appeal for immunity, which involves payment of personal tax for the period from 1926 to 1932.

The Fifth district appeals court ordered Wolfe to examine the assets of the Black estate and make

LINE BROKEN

French Victory Shortlived, Say Nazis; Regained Ground.

BERLIN —(AP)— A French company in a surprise attack was reported by the German official news agency today to have succeeded in breaking the German line on Kreuzberg, east of Forbach, only to be driven back later by a Nazi counter attack.

The sector is on the western front a short distance from Saarbrucken

The official news agency, DNB, said the French left dead and wounded when they were driven back by local German outposts after a short-lived triumph.

It also was said that a few French prisoners were taken by surprise German flank action.

Notorious Train Robber Ends Own Life With Dash

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.) — Roy Gardner, last of the train robbers, a 20th century Jesse James, cashed in his chips with neatness and dispatch, with malice toward none and the hope of forgiveness in his heart.

He planned and committed suicide last night as neatly as he had executed his bold banditries of the early 1920's. His luggage was packed and addressed; on each of four bags with a 50 cent tip. On his door was a "Do not disturb" sign. On the bathroom door was another reading: "Danger—Poison Gas."

He had sealed the door, dropped cyanide pellets into a glass of acid and departed this world in a wink—56 years after he entered it.

Little was known of Gardner until he broke into the headlines by staging an $85,000 mail truck robbery in San Diego in 1920. He had been a petty criminal and served a term in San Quentin for highway robbery.

His life was dotted with escapes from federal and state officials until in 1937 he was freed from prison and promised to go straight.

POLES CONTINUE RESISTANCE TO NAZI VICTORS

Armed Militaristic Groups Take Lives of German Army Officers.

(By International News Service)

ANGERS France—In one of his first acts after the installation of his government at the capital of the Polish Territory here, Premier Sikorski today revealed that secret Polish military organizations are still resisting the Nazi conquest of their country.

The revelation was coupled with an official memo from Sikorski to Premier Daladier in Paris denouncing German treatment of captives in the Nazi areas of partitioned Poland. The communique slashed at "Nazi atrocities."

Assassination Effort.

Outstanding among the numerous reports of organized resistance in what was western Poland—resistance outcarried by small groups of armed patriots obviously under a central command—is that of the attempt on the life Greiser, formerly president of the Danzig Senate and now Nazi Statthalter in Posen Province.

The report brought to France by a Pole who recently escaped from German-occupied Poland via the Balkins, states that as Greiser was motoring towards Posen his car was attacked by five Polish nationalists who repeatedly fired upon it with revolvers.

The armored car withstood the bullets, however, and a battle took place between Greiser's Nazi guards and the Poles.

Four of the Poles were killed, the fifth committed suicide after killing two Nazi guards. Greiser was not so much as scratched.

Guerilla warfare continues in all Nazi-held provinces, and sabotage work has been reported widely; many such reports being confirmed from Berlin directly. During one period of guerilla fighting, a German colonel was killed as he left a private Polish home.

Every member of that household was executed, Polish reports state, as the Nazis took revenge. The Polish groups thereupon adopted a new scheme, that of hiding the bodies of Nazi officers and soldiers killed in fighting.

RENO MAY FIND DIVORCE RIVAL IN SUN VALLEY

Idaho and Nevada Laws Are Identical In Offering Easy Decrees.

(By United Press)

SUN VALLEY, Ida — The desires of the Idaho legislature to turn Sun Valley, winter playground, into a divorce center rival to Reno may be realized despite the frowns of the resort's management, according to present indications.

Two New York society women won divorces after establishing six weeks residence requirement in Sun Valley lodge.

The two women who were divorced were Mrs. Eleanor Young Bacon, known to New York society as "Newport's first glamour girl," and Mrs. Mimi Richardson Smith, wife of a New York society polo player.

The resort management indicated it did not wish to solicit divorce trade from the east. But if wealthy easterners wished to avail themselves of the pleasures of Sun Valley to while away the divorce residence period, there could be no obligation.

That more divorcees would follow appeared likely. Attorneys in the small adjacent towns of Ketchum and Hailey are not adverse to the boom to their law business which the divorces might bring. They might even share the lucrative fees which go annually to the attorneys of Nevada's divorce capital.

Equal Rival of Reno.

The proponents point out that Sun Valley has all the pleasures and more to offer than Reno affords and the divorce requirements are just as easy. The 1937 Idaho legislature passed a six weeks residence law with the avowed purpose of competing with Nevada, which also has a six weeks law.

The grounds are adultery, extreme cruelty, wilful desertion, wilful neglect, habitual intemperance, conviction of a felony and permanent insanity, similar to those of Nevada.

Idaho permits closed door hearings and sealing of the records, similar to Nevada statutes, in some cases. There is only one hitch to the competition to the Reno divorce haven. Anyone obtaining a decree in Idaho may not marry again for six months. Nevada does not impose that restriction.

The competition for divorce trade between Nevada and Idaho is not new. At one time, prior to the World war, Boise, Ida., was a divorce mecca of considerable prominence. Nevada leaped into the lead by reducing its residence requirements to three months.

Idaho's legislature joined in the competition by passing a three months residence requirement law in March, 1931, over the governor's veto. Then Nevada, Arkansas and Idaho bid for the divorce trade.

Goofy Events In News Help Cases of Jitters In U. S.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Goofy things that happened to man and beast helped keep Americans from the jitters in war-torn 1939.

The antics of man's best friend—the dog—strange doings of the poor fish, and even the "pink elephants" that thundered around the bedposts in the hallucinations of inebriants, all contributed to the comic relief so necessary for emotional stability at a time when much of the world was engaged in life-death struggles.

The stubbornly resisting Finns reported they halted 200,000 Russians one chilly night in December when down in Berne, Ind., John Smeltzer lost 16 chickens by a dog's cold nose.

Chicken raiser Smeltzer awakened in the night, and thought he heard thieves in his house. Clad only in his underwear, he ventured into the night, his trusty shotgun in hand, and his faithful dog at his heels. The cold nose touched Smeltzer's bare leg. Smeltzer jumped. The gun went off. The casualties were the 16 chickens. The thieves? There weren't any.

Gloomy news was pouring in from war-torn Poland when there was a sudden plunk, and George Stofflet, announced in Reading, Pa., that a 12-inch trout, had landed at his feet—already fried. He explained that the poor fish wriggled free from a Heron winging overhead, but struck a high tension wire and was nicely cooked by 66,000 volts.

The "pink elephants" jumped into the news picture in Boston when a doctor reported that they were being gradually ousted as big shots in the alcoholic's parade of animals by dogs and snakes, and occasionally a whale or a hippopotamus — on the same day the German government ruled that Germany's funny men of the stage would have their jokes censored to avoid any derision of Nazidom.

An automobile whizzed down a Buss Temple, Tex., street, ripped off the pants of a pedestrain and left him standing there in his long underwear the same day the news came from Paris that the French consul had been ordered to leave Barcelona.

It was the publication of items such as this, simultaneously with the deadly serious news that furnished an "escape mechanism" for many Americans, Dr. Conrad Sommer, director of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, explained today Dr. Sommer said:

Human beings can stand only a limited amount of suffering. When the limit is about to be exceeded we must supply ourselves with one of the many escape mechanisms we have developed. Humor is one of these. By it we can for a moment escape from the gravity of unnerving personal problems as well as national and international threats.

CITY PARK BOARD SHOWS BALANCE IN FIRST REPORT

Ends Initial Year With $5.75 Left Over; Expenditures Total $12,194.

Mansfield public parks finished 1939 with a balance of $5.75, the first annual report of the Board of Park Commissioners showed today.

Submitted to Mayor William J. Locke by G. V. Sowers, secretary of the board, the report revealed that park expenditures for the year totaled $12,194.25 while the amount appropriated by council for park operations was $12,200.

The expenditures include $5,260 for labor; $1,740 salary of superintendent; $996.52 for supplies and maintenance; $997.84 for fuel and light; $500 for Johns park and $500 for Prospect park; $1,199.89 for Liberty park pool and $1,000 toward Liberty park shelter house.

Of the labor and maintenance expenditures, North park received the largest amount, $1,882.22.

Income from the Liberty park swimming pool which totaled $1,592.51, was paid into the city's general fund.

Give Attendance Report.

The report pointed out that attendance figures were kept for only three parks during the 1939 season, North, Middle and South park with total attendance estimated at more than 36,000.

These figures deal only with reservations made through park officials and do not take into account persons who used the parks without them, it said.

The three parks that turned in reports were: North Lake park, 492 reservations, 19,188 persons; Middle park, 58 reservations, 2,970 persons, and South park, 175 reservations, 14,508 persons.

"The probable use of the parks for these purposes was double these figures or more," the report to the mayor said. "Liberty, Johns and Prospect park figures are not available."

"The board has been able to finance the entire park system within the appropriation set by council, giving supervision to each of the parks, except Liberty, up to the end of 1939, something not heretofore done," the statement added.

"The $30,000 WPA park project, about completed, has made some outstanding improvements in all the parks but much is yet needed.

"On recommendations from each of the park associations, data is being prepared for a similar park project for 1940 to complete the improvements desired."

Members of the park board of commissioners who took office Jan. 1, 1939 are H. G. Brunner, president; Roy Vaughn, vice president, and R. S. Gibson. A proposal to create a non-partisan park board was approved by the electorate at the November, 1938 election. Members serve without pay.

Gibson, who was originally named for a one-year term, was re-appointed last week by Mayor Locke for a three-year term.

An Exciting Life

Here is one of the men who daily risk their lives to bring you pictures of the European war in Helsinki and on the western front. He is Frank Muto, crack International News Photos lensman, who now is in Helsinki after covering the Nazi war in Warsaw. In compliance with official regulations, Muto wears a complete uniform including helmet and knapsack.

An estimated seven trillion cubic feet of natural gas has been used from the Texas Panhandle field since its discovery.

University Aids Community With Clinical Service

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—What is a university?

Northwestern university has increased the scope of its academic facilities to include:

Tooth pulling—85,803 adults and 3,703 children were treated by the university's dental clinic in 1939.

Trouble shooting—9,000 indigents were advised by the university's legal clinic during the year.

Healing — Another 9,000 persons made 112,000 trips to the medical clinic.

In addition thousands were helped in the clinics for the deaf-blind, halting of speech, and backward children.

NO MOVIES

Four Elderly Persons Learn None Ever Saw Motion Pictures.

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—(INS)—The Marsh's and the Schenck's, two Moravian couples, compared notes and found they had one thing in common—neither had ever seen a motion picture.

While celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, the Misses Mrs. Marsh of nearby Nazareth said they intended to see a movie soon but Mr. and Mrs. Schenck, of Philadelphia, were undecided about the propriety of the thing.

HELP JOBLESS

CLEVELAND, O.—(INS)—The American Society for the Deaf has created a fund, which it hopes to raise, to aid deaf persons who are either in the relief rolls, or are about to apply for relief. The fund, announced today, is designed to provide training for the deaf in crafts and occupations in which they can earn a living. Applicants for the benefits of the society must be deaf, have resided in Cleveland for one year and be needy.

DOWN TO 12

CHERRYVILLE, N. C.—(INS)—The congregation had dwindled to only 12 members in the Dutch language Reformed church here, so it decided to close its doors against 38 last year.

Under the new schedule of sermons, there will be a sermon in the Dutch language on the first Sunday of each month during the year at 2:30 p. m.

SCIENTIST'S NEW DRAMA AMAZES GOTHAM CRITICS

Cincinnati Professor's Play Chronicles Domestic Tilts in Hectic Family.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Dr. Gustav Eckstein astounded New York critics this week with his new play "Christmas Eve,"—and that was no surprise at all to friends of the shaggymaned scientist whose hobby is playing Beethoven to a room full of canaries.

White mice and parrots too, are a part of the life of the man who a few years back wrote a best-seller in the field of non-fiction: "Noguchi."

Friend of Alexander Woollcott, Katherine Cornell, the Fontaines and myriad other world-figures of the stage and letters, Dr. Eckstein is associate professor of physiology at the University of Cincinnati college of medicine. A graduate of Harvard, he also holds a degree in dentistry.

Canaries fly free within the 15-foot square room that forms the 49 year old author-scientist's study. Often he seats himself at a grand piano in one corner, with a pet parrot on one shoulder, while he plays Beethoven for the birds—frequently his favorite fifth symphony.

One by one the yellow-coated songsters take up the melody—some from perches on the piano, others from bare little trees along the walls.

Story of Family.

Associates who said he put the finishing touches on "Christmas Eve" just two weeks ago, found a reflection of this in the reaction of one New York critic who wrote that Eckstein must have "a fine subconscious hatred for the jolly Yuletide season."

The play dramatizes the hectic domestic life of a large Irish-Polish family, the father of which, a drunken voluble Irishman, plagues his wife into giving premature birth to her baby. The frank details of childbirth are acted openly on stage.

Dr. Eckstein early in 1937 completed "The Ivory Fan" a play press-agented as "A Japanese Camille," and the year before wrote "Canary," a book acclaimed as a fascinating and unique insight into bird life. It went into a second edition two weeks after publication.

For years, Dr. Eckstein's pet parrot has accompanied him to symphony concerts and to restaurants. Perched on one shoulder, the bird rests quietly while its master eats, and if there's an item of food on the menu of which the feathered creature is especially fond, a duplicate order is served.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

FIRST SIT-DOWN

SEATTLE, Wash.—(INS)—The first recorded sit-down strike occurred in 700 B. C., Dr. Don L. Leschier, member of the University of Wisconsin faculty, told the Institute of Public Relations at the University of Washington. It was originated, Dr. Leschier said, by a group of cemetery workers in Egypt when they failed to receive their pay in cabbages and fish on time.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

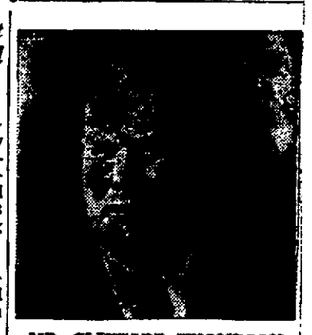
HERE IS GOOD NEWS!—Amazing Experiences Of Relief with RUX Reported by Prominent Mansfield People. Crowds Flock to Great Medicine Sale at Local Drug Store.

The great sale of RUX Compound still goes on, and each day the fame of this remarkable medicine spreads throughout Mansfield and vicinity as more and more people hear from the lips of grateful users their amazing stories of relief.

An Amazing Experience.

Enthusiastic in his own experience with RUX, Mr. Clifford Thompson, Sheriff of Bureau County, Illinois, states:

"I have been having Rheumatic Pain attacks which at times were quite intense. Sometimes I could hardly bear the pains caused by putting on or taking off my coat. Only those who have suffered Rheumatic Pains know the suffering I endured. I experimented with many suggested reliefs. Finally I found RUX and am happy to say that after taking it I feel so different. RUX relieves those sharp Rheumatic Pain attacks and I am so grateful that I expect to continue its use."



MR. CLIFFORD THOMPSON

If you are a Rheumatic Sufferer—if your body is racked with sharp stabbing muscular pain attacks that make life a torment—if you roll and toss through sleepless nights, feel unfit for work or pleasure because of cruel Rheumatic, Neuralgic or Neuritic pains, you should go to the Hursh's Drug Store, 4th at Diamond today and ask them about this remarkable medicine, RUX $1.50 and $6.

GOOD GOSH! WHERE DID THOSE 250,000 CAKES GO!

We Had Eight Bakeries Working Overtime!

They Baked 250,000 Cakes For Us!

That's 62½ Tons of Cake!

To bake them it took 31,000 pounds of flour, 35,000 pounds of sugar, 186,000 eggs, 25,000 pints of milk, 1,500 pounds of baking powder, 15,000 pounds of butter and shortening, and 4,500 pounds of salt!

They were covered with 57,000 square feet of icing, and decorated with 40 miles of red frosting and 19 miles of blue frosting.

ALL THIS — AND YET WE RAN OUT OF THEM!

TO ALL OUR FRIENDS who arrived at their Sohio station too late to get a cake, we can only offer our sincere regrets. We thought we'd have more than enough cake for everyone. In fact, some people thought we were foolish to order such a huge number. Next time we'll order a million!

DR. F. M. EDWARDS' DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

Benefits Nation of Sufferers!

COLUMBUS, OHIO: For over 20 years Dr. F. M. Edwards (widely known physician) successfully treated scores of patients for constipation and the headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness which often result.

This wise Doctor knew liver bile must flow freely every day into your intestines or fatty foods can't be properly digested and you may become constipated. So he kept this in mind when he perfected his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful, yet they assure gentle, thorough bowel movements and ALSO help stimulate bile flow. Test their goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

POPEYE— They'll Take a War of Nerves!

PAM—"Can't Believe It Yet!" By A. W. Brewerton

IT'S THE SAME NIGHT—PAM IS STUNNED BY CLARE'S STORY!
YES, PAM—I WAS ALMOST A BRIDE TONIGHT!
MUST HAVE BEEN A TERRIBLE SHOCK—WHAT DAVID TOLD YOU
1-11
CRAIG SAWYER IS BRUCE MARSHALL!!—! —SEEMS HARD TO BELIEVE—DOESN'T IT?
PAM—IF WHAT DAVID SAYS IS SO—I'LL NEVER TRUST ANOTHER MAN!
BUT DAVID SAYS HE'S POSITIVE—THE ONLY REASON HE DIDN'T ARREST CRAIG TONIGHT IS HE WANTS HIM TO LEAD THEM TO OTHER MEMBERS OF THIS SPY RING!
THAT'S WHY HE HAD ME PRETEND IT WAS ALL MY DOINGS—GETTING COLD FEET ON THE ELOPEMENT—I DON'T THINK CRAIG SUSPECTED ANYTHING ELSE!—
—PAM, DAVID SAYS THE MAN WHO CALLED ON THE PHONE IN ANSWER TO THAT AD ABOUT JENNY WAS CRAIG!
HE KNEW THAT VOICE BUT COULDN'T PLACE IT—TILL JENNY TOLD HIM ABOUT HEARING HER HUSBAND'S VOICE AT THE APARTMENT—CRAIG CAME TO TAKE ME OUT THEN—REMEMBER?—I—I JUST CAN'T BELIEVE IT ALL, YET—BUT DAVID SAYS HE'LL PROVE IT TO ME TOMORROW!
WHAT WILL DAVID'S PROOF BE?

EXPOSE 'FAGIN'

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—A "fagin" who used his ten-age daughter to help him in his bogus check racket was exposed in a Vancouver magistrate's court recently. The man, H. A. McDonald, pleaded guilty on three counts of supplying his daughter with worthless checks totaling $846 and getting her to cash them at nearby stores. In each case, police said, he instructed the child to buy an inexpensive item and bring the rest of the money home.

STOCK ACTIVITY SLOWS DESPITE MILD RALLYINGS

Fractional Gains in Majority Near Second Hour; Foreign Markets Listless.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Further mild rallying tendencies crept into the stock market today, but buying was light from the start.

With the ticker tape frequently dozing, fractional gains were in the majority near the second hour.

Foreign markets did little either way. Bonds and commodities were moderately mixed.

Speculative apathy was attributed by brokers partly to the lack of stimulating news from Congress, the industrial front or Europe.

Some encouragement, though, was derived from the fact the general run of share owners disinclined to let go their holdings. Brokers hoped slackness of offerings eventually would bring an expansion of demand.

A slight cloud on bullish skies was the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing the country's bank clearings for the week ended yesterday fell below the preceding holiday period and were 1.8 per cent under the aggregate at the same time last year.

Noted also were the figures of the engineering News-Record showing construction awards for the week ended Tuesday, while ahead of the preceding week by $10,000,000 were about $59,000,000 under the total for the same week a year ago.

GIVEN HEARING

Oklahoma Officials Argue for Return of Escaped Convict.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Two Oklahoma state officials arrived today to argue before an aide of Governor John W. Bricker for the return of Carlton B. Chilton 46, Cleveland, who escaped from an Oklahoma prison 26 years ago. The hearing is scheduled for this afternoon.

Owen J. Watts, assistant Oklahoma attorney general, and Warden Fred Hunt of the reformatory at Granite, Okla., ask extradition of Chilton to serve the remaining half of a two-year robbery sentence.

Opposing the extradition was a committee of Cleveland friends of Chilton who is now employed by the state highway department.

WASHINGTON— (AP)— The position of the Treasury Jan 9: $2,125,771,624.86.

PENSION HIKES GET NEW LIFT

Bricker Will Consider Urging Increases If Special Session's Called.

COLUMBUS - (AP) Gov. John W. Bricker today favored an increase in old age pensions "sooner or later."

The governor told a delegation representing the Ohio State Federation of Labor and the Fraternal Order of Eagles that, if he called a special session of the legislature, he would "seriously consider" recommending larger pensions.

"Sooner or later the pensions will have to be increased," he said, adding that he was still undecided whether to recall the general assembly.

The two organizations urged the chief executive to sponsor legislation to raise maximum pensions from $30 per month to $40 to take advantage of all available federal funds, and advocated that age pension administration be separated from the state welfare department and made a separate division of state government.

FIGHT COLDS

by helping nature build up your cold-fighting resistance

IF you suffer one cold right after another, here's sensational news! Mrs. Elizabeth Vickery writes: "I used to catch colds very easily. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helped to strengthen me just splendidly. I celebrate, had more stamina, and was troubled very little with colds."

This great medicine, formulated by a practicing physician, helps combat colds this way: (1) It stimulates the appetite. (2) It promotes flow of gastric juices. Thus you eat more; your digestion improves; your body gets greater nourishment which helps nature build up your cold-fighting resistance.

So successful has Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery been that over 30,000,000 bottles have already been used. Proof of its remarkable benefits. Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from your druggist today. Don't suffer unnecessarily from colds.

SHIP SCUTTLED

German Liner Sunk as British Warship Appears.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa—(U.P.)—The German liner Ussukuma was scuttled when intercepted by a British warship in the South Atlantic, it was disclosed today. She was of 7,834 tons and out of Hamburg.

The crew of the German ship was taken aboard the British warship and landed here today. The Germans were sent to Praetoria for interment.

Allied sources recently reported that Adolf Hitler had ordered some 400 to 500 German ships which had been marooned in foreign ports since the start of the war to attempt to reach Germany.

New Year—New Leaf—

Why Not New Car?

THE slate's clean, the past is past, you're making a new beginning on a new year you hope will be happier and finer and richer — how about doing the job up right?

You spot the fun possibilities in this brilliant and buoyant Buick just by watching it flash by, but have you been in to try it?

Do you know what it's like — first hand, we mean — to have a hundred-plus Dynaflash horsepower waiting your treadle-foot's nudge? Have you sampled the thrill in such an engine micro-poise-balanced to smoothness a wrist watch can't hope to equal?

Today's winter-roughened roads give you swell chance to try out BuiCoil Springing's gentle ride — raw weather emphasizes the stout snugness of Unisteel Bodies by Fisher and the convenience of the Flash-Way Direction Signal.

Now's when you most need firm new rubber — sure, soft, tiptoe brakes — Buick's automatic choke — stout, taut frames and rugged bodies, and why wait for spring to buy beauty that gives your spirits a lift?

Then too, driving speeds are naturally lower now and driving distances shorter, making this the best time of all to get a car properly started in life.

So figure it out! It's a new year. You've turned a new leaf. Ask your Buick dealer what a new Buick will cost you now — and let every month of the 1940 contribute to a happy new year!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. • Transportation, state handling taxes, state and local taxes (if any), and optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

The model illustrated is the Buick SUPER model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

ARMY HEROINE GAINS ESTEEM OF ALL CHINA

Girl Who Fled From Germany Becomes Sugeon, Patriot With Happy Life.

(By United Press)

HONGKONG—Fear of possible war in Europe or further anti-Jewish outbreaks in Nazi Germany forced "Wong the doctor" to flee from Berlin in 1936 to seek safety and happiness in China.

She found happiness—"fun" as she calls it—but not much safety in dark dugouts, shell-torn front lines and between the never-ending streams of wounded soldiers which preceded China's retreat to the western hinterland.

Thousands of Chinese soldiers, today, from Chekiang to Szechwan, and from Shansi to Kwangsi, know by sight or by name this young German Jewish girl, Attilie Frankel, who became a Chinese citizen when she married a young student in North China.

Proud of her rank as "captain" in the army medical service, "the doctor" frowns on feminine clothes and wears only khaki uniforms and army hats. Whenever possible she carries a 38-caliber pistol which she wears in an "old western" holster.

When the war broke out in July, 1937, "Wong the doctor" joined the staff of an American hospital at Kuling. While in Germany, she had studied pre-medics for two years, but her job at Kuling was to dress wounds of the soldiers. She watched closely the work of the American surgeon and his wife. When the shortage of surgeons became acute, she performed minor operations. Within a year, she had become one of the best "wound surgeons in the army medical corps.

Not until she reached Hankow however, did the young "doctor" receive recognition from any except her co-workers. At Wuchang, one of the Wuhan tri-cities, she was assigned to a hospital where the canons of sterility were unknown. Wounded men, delirious from fever, were housed in filthy hovels, exposed to daily Japanese air raids. The government tried to assist the soldiers, but shortage of funds and housing facilities made the task impossible.

The girl surgeon collected coolies and transformed some of the wounded to the outskirts of the city, where she had found them a place to live. Faced by a shortage of beds, she took some of her own money and purchased cots for the most seriously wounded. As a result, her work was recognized by the army, and she received a higher post.

Her next job was to supervise treatment for convalescing soldiers. She prescribed diets, even supervised the hospital cooks. She directed the soldiers in preliminary exercises which were to assist them to regain physical health. At one time, she had 34 nurses working under her.

When Hankow fell, "Wong the doctor" resumed her work in northern Kiangsi and Hunan provinces. When the Japanese halted their offensive, work was reduced but she found no opportunity to skate, fence, or ride horseback—her favorite sports. As a result, she gained 30 pounds.

"Now I look like a general rather than a captain," she told this correspondent at Chungking.

BUILDING SPURTS

WILMINGTON, Del.— (INS) — Representing the largest home-building expansion realized in years, some 900 houses valued at approximately $4,000,000 have been erected in Wilmington suburbs during the past 12 months, a Chamber of Commerce survey shows.

Charges Lynch Bill 'Buy'

In the midst of a quiet session, Representative Arthur W. Mitchell (D.) of Illinois, only Negro member of the house, hurls a charge that the Republican party is "trying to buy back the Negro vote" with the pending anti-lynching bill. Shown with Mitchell, right, is Representative Joseph Gavagan of New York, sponsor of the anti-lynching bill, passed by the house previously only to encounter a southern filibuster in the senate. The bill has been passed by the house and now faces another battle in the senate.

The daily production of the Texas Panhandle natural gas field is 1,700,000,000 (billion) cubic feet from approximately 1,500 wells.

88 MEN FEARED DEAD IN BLAST AT COAL MINE

3 Bodies Found; Rescue Crews Within Few Hundred Feet of Other Victims.

they went along to protect themselves. The shift coming out at 3 o'clock reported penetrating through rock and debris about half way to the trapped men.

State mine department officials said the ventilating system had to be rebuilt as the crews moved ahead. The main ventilating system continued in operation but H. G. Houtz, state chief engineer, reported chances "slim" that the trapped men had been able to build barricades and conserve what pure air remained in the affected areas.

Occurring late yesterday afternoon, the explosion at first was believed a slate fall and it was more than an hour before seriousness of the accident was known above ground. Forty-seven coal diggers in an eastern section of the workings came out at 4 p. m. unaware there had been a blast.

Cause of the mishap was not determined immediately although District Mine Inspector W. C. Sturgiss theorized it might have resulted when the men cut through to some long unused, gas-filled entry. The state department of mines reported the Bartley No. 1 was gaseous but was thoroughly rock-dusted.

Motorman Roy Ashworth was almost at the foot of the shaft at the time of the explosion and while his motor drowned out the noise, he knew something was wrong "back in" when a big cloud of dust swept over him.

The first of seven rescue crews assembled quickly from this southwestern West Virginia village and nearby communities found two men killed near the shaft. The bodies were left below while the workers pushed ahead.

Mine officials said the victims apparently had disobeyed orders and were walking out of the mine. The rule is that although work is finished the men must wait and come out on the regularly scheduled "man trips," hauled by mine motors.

Worst Blast In Decade.

The blast, possibly West Virginia's worst mine disaster in more than a decade, is the first to occur at the Bartley No. 1 which has been operating since early 1929 in one of the busiest and richest coal sections of the state. The mine normally employs 250 and is located on a hill above Dry Fork river 140 miles south of Charleston.

J. J. Hammond, company official, expressed the hope that at least 40 men were in sections not badly damaged and that they might have survived.

Lights glowed all night on hastily strung wires about the shaft mouth. State troopers kept the crowd from the entrance. Red Cross workers had coffee and food on hand for rescue crews when they came out to rest. Six ambulances were standing by with 10 others available at Welch, 20 miles away. Oxygen equipment also was on hand, manned by crews ready to help any who were brought out alive.

OHIO CHILD, 6, DROWNS

FLIER HURT

Woman Injured as Plane Cracks Up After Cuban Races.

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Mrs. Arlene Davis, of Lakewood, O., was injured as her plane cracked up in landing here yesterday upon her return from the air races at Havana.

She had flown the plane in the all-American air races here last week. The under-carriage, propellor and cowling were damaged.

EIGHT OUT FOR CONGRESS SEAT

4 Dems, 4 Republicans Already Eye Nominations, Others Expected in Few Days.

Col. Oliver H. Dockery, jr., of Newark, who announced yesterday.

Expected to announce soon are James A. Glenn, Coshocton, who has sought the office unsuccessfully before, and Walter B. Woodard, Bellville, who ran unsuccessfully two years ago after winning the party nomination.

But there is a complicating factor in the whole picture.

As the result of the death on Jan. 1 of Congressman William A. Ashbrook, a special election is mandatory to fill the vacancy caused by his death. The special election is called by the governor—who may, if he wishes, call it on the same dates as the regular May primary and November election.

Then voters have to pick a candidate for the unexpired term, which would end Jan. 3, 1944 when the new congress meets and also a congressman to fill the regular two-year term which starts at that time.

Which office the eight candidates now in the field or expected in the field will seek will not be known until they file their nominating petitions, designating which term they seek.

The short term congressman may have a "snap." It may develop that he will never vote on a bill or attend a session of congress, which probably will not be in session next November, but he will still be entitled to his pay, his mileage to and from Washington, an office in the capital and other appurtenances.

Atty. Leslie Wagner of Mansfield announced his candidacy for Richland county representative to the general assembly yesterday when he applied at the board of elections for nominating petitions. A Democrat, he is expected to oppose Ralph C. Lutz of Lexington, the incumbent, in the primary. Lutz has not announced yet that he will seek nomination for re-election.

Joseph Piper, Olivesburg road, a Democrat, will seek the nomination for clerk of courts, a post now held by Fred R. Zellner, a Democrat.

Seeking the nomination for county recorder, now held by Howard Wenning, who has also taken out petitions, but has not announced what office he will try for, is H. J. Guteknust, 443 Wood street, a Democrat.

SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY

CHARDON, O.—(AP)—Bessie Burns, 22, was under sentence today to a year in Marysville Women's Reformatory after pleading guilty to armed robbery of a tavern Dec. 20. Her companion, Fern L. Smith, was sentenced to a year in Ohio penitentiary on a similar plea.

ish War Veterans, a member of Company M Association and of the Alfred I. Harrington post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

For 21 years Mr. King served as a trustee of Memorial building and was a member of the board that was instrumental in rebuilding the structure after fire had destroyed it in 1929. He was president of the board at the time of his death.

He served eight years on the Civil Service commission, two years of which he was president.

Mr. King was a member of the Presbyterian church, Elks lodge, Amima club, Westbrook Country club and the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1906 he was married to Miss Maude B. Ackerman of Mansfield. Surviving with Mrs. King are three children, Mrs. Robert Quinn of Birmingham, Ala., Jerome J. King and Miss Martha J. King, of Mansfield; a brother, Dr. J. H. King, and a sister, Mrs. Mary King Carter, both of Mansfield, and one grandchild.

The body was removed to the Jones Memorial where services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday. Rev. D. N. Roller will officiate, assisted by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer. The American Legion will conduct military services at the grave in Mansfield cemetery.

Neither Mrs. Quinn, who spent Christmas here with her father, nor Mrs. Carter, who will be unable to get a plane out of Phoenix, Ariz., because of the bad weather, will attend the funeral.

BRITISH REPLY WAITED IN U. S.

Answer To America's Protest On Mail Seizures Expected Soon.

LONDON—(INS)—Great Britain's reply to the United States protest against British seizures of American mail will be sent to Washington within the next few days, it was disclosed today.

Nature of the reply was not divulged officially but it was understood that while expressing regrets for the inconvenience caused, the British government will point out that inspection of mails in time of war is permitted by international law.

ENDS OWN LIFE

Grief Over Death of Son Thought Responsible for Woman's Act.

MARION, O.—(INS)—Grief over the suicide of her son more than a year ago was believed today to have prompted Mrs. L. C. Shrider, 46, of Kenton, to end her life with a gun in a Marion hotel.

While her husband, Lester Shrider, a salesman, was in Lima, searching for her, Mrs. Shrider was found dead in bed in the hotel.

BRITISH REPEL NAZI BOMBERS

German Airplanes Driven Off English, Scottish Coast in Fierce Fighting.

ers reached the region and six British fighters went up to chase them away.

Fragments of anti-aircraft shells fell in the streets of South Shields during 10 minutes of firing. Spectators over a wide area were endangered, but rushed out nevertheless to pick up the bits for souvenirs.

Windows of a bus were shattered.

After once being driven away, a raider circled and returned above South Shields and again was fired upon.

Three large black planes believed by observers to be German were chased to sea by British fighters over the southeast coast of Scotland.

East of London heavy anti-aircraft firing was heard in a Kent town about 1 p. m. (8 a. m. Mansfield time) and shell bursts high in the sky were seen in the direction of the Essex coast, north of Kent, although no planes were seen and no warning was sounded.

The planes which drew the fire of the Essex coastal defenses were flying eastward over the Thames estuary.

HELSINKI—(AP)—Smashing of Russian attacks on the Salla and Petsamo sectors was reported in the Finnish army's daily communique today.

Salla is on Finland's eastern front and Petsamo on the extreme northern corridor to the Arctic sea. The Russians were thrown back, it was said, after preparation by Finnish artillery.

COPENHAGEN—(AP)—Reports were received here today that more than 100 Soviet Russian officers had been called back from the Finnish front, some of them to face trial before special courts.

The reports, which reached Norwegian and Finnish quarters from numerous sources, said that the officers would be tried before courts consisting of people's comissars.

The Russian commissariat dealing with supplies was reported especially to be under a penetrating inquiry, which, it was said, already has led to executions.

PARIS—(U.P.)—French planes yesterday shot down two German planes over French territory and a third was believed to have been downed, military informants said today.

The high command communique, No. 259 of the war, said:

"There was nothing to report throughout the night. Yesterday we shot down two enemy planes inside our lines."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(U.P.)—King Gustaf V, addressing the opening session of the Riksdag (parliament) today, pledged Finland all the aid Sweden could give her.

Warning that the country faced sacrifices, the 81-year-old monarch said that social reform appropriations must be secondary to provisions for the national defense.

"We will give Finland all the help possible, and which our situation permits," he said.

COPENHAGEN—(INS)—Italy's ambassador to Berlin has lodged an official protest with Germany against the government's refusal to permit Italian supplies for Finland to pass through the reich, it was reported from Berlin today.

Shipments of Italian planes were reported to have been halted last week and ordered to return to Italy.

GIRL COASTER KILLED

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Six-year-old Donna Jean Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Trott, was dead today, killed three weeks before she was to start to school when her sled ran under the wheels of a milk truck.

HEADS SORORITY

SHELBY—Miss Jeanne McGown was elected president of the Beta Kappa Tau sorority at a recent meeting at the home of Miss Josephine Faber. Others elected were Miss Rosemary Herlihy, vice-president; Miss Naomi Lybarger, secretary; Miss Jean Bashore, treasurer, Mrs. Bill Setterfield, good-will secretary; Miss Eleanor Pemberton, society editor, and Miss Imogene Light, scribe.

NAMES OFFICERS

Shelby Bank Again Selects Hildebrant as President.

SHELBY—H. G. Hildebrant was re-elected president of the Citizens' bank of this city at the reorganization meeting of the board of directors Wednesday. The reorganization session followed the annual stockholders' session at which 10 directors were renamed on the board.

Other officers of the bank are W. W. Van Horn, chairman of the board, C. C. Fish, vice president; W. B. Kuhn, cashier; J. H. Stimson, C. S. Stroup and H. D. Hildebrant, assistant cashiers.

Re-elected on the board of directors were Hildebrant, Fish, Van Horn, Judge Edwin Mansfield of Mansfield, C. C. Skiles, G. S. Dennis, Walter Sotzen, J. C. Morris, Frank C. Long and C. S. Huber. Other employes of the bank include Mrs. Lillian Madden and Miss Mary Van Wagner, bookkeepers; Miss Arlene Reynolds, stenographer; Gordon Imhoff, clerk, and Charles Thomas, custodian.

HOUSE NUMBER REVISION URGED

City Engineer Again Urges Correction of System in Annual Report.

recommendation renewed by the engineer.

In connection with water and sewer improvements, Statler advised the construction of additional trunk mains in the water distribution system and the elimination of roof water from the sanitary sewers as well as the construction of new trunk lines and the cleansing of all main and sub-main sewers.

Numerous other proposals, a repetition of those suggested in previous years included recommendations for a downtown public parking grounds to alleviate the parking problem; the grading of all unimproved streets; continuation of sidewalk repairs; the acquisition of additional park areas, and the maintenance of proper channels for Ritter's and Touby's run with the repair of culverts, bridge foundations, and retaining walls.

Aided by WPA funds, engineering projects during 1939 totaled $137,400, or $214,000 less than was spent in 1938 when the city sponsored approximately $351,000 in work projects.

The total cost of the combined improvements to the city and property owners who shared jointly in the cost was $71,940 while the government spent $65,460.

For this amount the city benefitted by the construction of more than two miles of sanitary and storm sewers costing $19,200 of which the city and the property owners financed $10,120.

Street paving, grading and widening along with curb and gutter improvements and the construction of new sidewalks cost $93,800, of which $46,630 was in federal grants.

Over two miles of extensions in the water distribution system were laid at the cost of $24,200, with the city paying $12,650.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1940.

Despite Finland's successes thus far, it is difficult to consider Russia as the under dog.

Unless otherwise ordered, Easter this year will fall on March 24—and any objections or suggestions should be sent direct to the White House.

A Harvard university savant optimistically predicts that things will be much better on this planet by a million years from now—anybody want to bet on that?

Nebraska's One-House Legislature

WHETHER any other states will, within the next few years, follow Nebraska's example in a unicameral—one-house—legislature, to supplant the two-house method of legislation, is problematical.

It appears that Nebraska has been saving money under the new plan, but this, alone, would make no particular appeal to the partisan politicians who have heretofore exercised considerable influence in determining methods of government.

Ohio is unlikely to be among the early states to make such a change, despite efforts of a Citizens' League to arouse interest in this subject, by calling attention to the fact that the cost of operating the Nebraska legislature is only one-tenth as much as that of operating the Ohio legislature.

There are more factors than that of the form of legislature in this great discrepancy. Ohio is much more thickly populated, with more large cities and industry. Nebraska's population was, at the last census, one-fifth of that of Ohio. The latter state is now, also, slowly convalescing from an extremely wasteful administration.

After a few states have tried the plan, which probably has disadvantages as well as benefits, there will be more information on which to base judgment.

Planning Health Program

AT LEAST one League of Nations committee has some real work to do and seems able to do it. This is the health committee which has just concluded sessions in Geneva. Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, former surgeon-general of the United States, attended the sessions and has reported the results.

Delegates discussed health problems created by the present world situation and studied ways to co-ordinate the efforts of various countries to counteract them. Three serious problems were faced. First was the shortage of doctors. Europe has never had enough doctors, said Dr. Cumming. Now the scarcity has become dangerous because those available are mostly mobilized for military needs.

With fewer private physicians to carry on, Europe is likely to face soon the other two problems—a spread of epidemics and the health consequences of prolonged undernourishment.

Forewarned of this development, hospitals and doctors, medical schools and public health departments in neutral countries plan to co-operate to meet it. There is work to be done not only in increasing all health facilities but in educating the public here and abroad as to the dangers ahead and the best means of avoiding and combatting them.

Automobiles By the Million

APPROACH of General Motors to completion of its 25,000,000th car marks an achievement in the automotive field which would have been undreamed of in the early days of this century when the "horseless carriage" was just coming into use.

Such an accomplishment has been possible through a combination of inventive genius, technical skill and steady progress in production methods, encouraged by the American principle of permitting the greatest possible latitude in individual advancement commensurate with developed ability.

It has been this production of automobiles by the millions that has made their ownership so general, even among persons of moderate income. It was estimated, not long ago, by W. J. Cameron, of the Ford company, that to build a modern car by hand, as was done forty years ago, it would cost around $17,850, instead of the less than $1,000 at which many new cars are now sold.

At the same time, also, there has been steady increase in the wages paid to automobile factory workers.

Much invested capital was lost in the automobile industry during its era of development, for every forward step involved effort and risk. It was the profit motive which led men to accomplish the seemingly impossible—just as it is the profit motive which will inspire further progress in transforming luxuries into necessities and spreading modern conveniences to additional millions of Americans.

If government will work in behalf of legitimate business, instead of against it, progress will be much more rapid.

War Costs Continue Long

THE NUMBER of World war veterans claiming benefits from the federal government increased in 1939. Gains appeared in every classification—hospitalization, partial or total disabilities, and so on. The peak of such claims is still far in the future.

Pensions to veterans of all our wars have at last begun to decrease, although benefits to dependents of some of them are still increasing. The end of 1939 even found one person still receiving a pension because of service rendered by a soldier in the war of 1812.

If widows and dependents of World war veterans continue so long on the pension lists, we will be paying for the 1917-1918 conflict in the year 2041. A nation would have to stay out of a good many wars in succession if it hoped ever to come to the end of such obligations.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Usually nobody pays much attention to primaries in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, but this year they could really raise more political rumpus than a bull in a ballot box.

New Hampshire has the first regularly scheduled primary this year, coming on the second Tuesday of March. President Roosevelt carried the state in 1936 to the amazement of Democrats and the sorrow of Republicans.

Now what if eager New Dealers got busy up there in the next few weeks and put up a slate of convention delegates pledged to President Roosevelt?

Conceivably the thing could gather force, snowball fashion, and start a parade of states rounding up Roosevelt delegations.

Third Term Involved.

SUCH a move in New Hampshire might do any one of several things. It might compel the president to reach an earlier decision on his third term business. If he failed to step out immediately and smash a drive for third-term delegations the flood likely would be on, as convention delegates are just like individual politicians—they want to be early on the bandwagon.

With a flock of delegations demanding that he run again, it would be a hard task for President Roosevelt to refuse to accept the call, even if he really hoped to retire at the end of his present term.

Wisconsin Problem.

WISCONSIN presents an even more interesting proposition. The primary law in that state requires a statement from the presidential candidate to be filed if he is willing to have a delegation pledged to him.

He doesn't have to say that he is seeking the delegation, so the statement cannot be interpreted as an outright announcement of candidacy. But it does require that the candidate file a statement saying there is nothing to disqualify him for the presidency. The statement must be filed 32 days ahead of the primary coming on the first Tuesday in April.

Any candidate who filed such a statement would have a hard time later explaining that he was just fooling around.

There hasn't been the slightest indication yet that President Roosevelt might file such a statement. But unless he withdraws before that time it will be at least embarrassing for such individuals as McNutt, Wheeler or Farley to seek the delegation. They have already announced, or it is generally agreed, that they will not run in opposition to President Roosevelt.

Yet what Wisconsin Democrats need just now is a unifying force rather than confusion. Their working agreement with the La Follette Progressives has broken down. In the last election their Democratic senator, Duffy, was voted out of office and Republican Senator Wiley replaced him.

If President Roosevelt has decided by then whether to run or relax, Wisconsin's primary would afford him an apt opportunity to speak. If he declines to file the statement (it is hard to believe he won't be asked to), it will be an indication, although not proof, that he wants to be out of the picture.

Anemia, Problem Of Adolescence.

—By DR. CLENDENING

A GREAT problem of adolescence is anemia. This may be very insidious and entirely escape attention, but I think anyone who deals with large groups of adolescent children must notice the high incidence of pallor. This probably indicates anemia whether the blood examination shows it or not.

The anemia of adolescence is usually one in which the number of red cells is not reduced although the coloring matter of the blood shows a more or less significant reduction.

The old-fashioned "green sickness" in girls was a form of primary anemia called "chlorosis." We are told on eminent authority that this has disappeared off the earth. The explanation of the disappearance of chlorosis has been that the nutrition of the modern age is better than that of other periods.

We have a large supply of fresh foods during the winter, including fresh meats; which was not true in our parents' time, and we also have green vegetables and fruits with a high iron content all the year 'round now. All of which goes to prevent the development of chlorosis.

Iron Deficiency.

Chlorosis is due to iron deficiency and its treatment is very simple: it consists in the feeding of iron. The argument for the reasons of the disappearance of chlorosis, that we have more iron in our food now, is therefore plausible.

I am not sure, however, that chlorosis has disappeared quite as much as we are led to believe. I see cases every once in a while in the clinic, and I find that they are not recognized because the subject of chlorosis is not taught emphatically to modern physicians.

The principal symptoms of chlorosis are digestive, consisting of loss of appetite and a liking for particular kinds of foods. This appetite change may be more cause than effect because the foods which are preferred are candy and other processed foods which contain little iron or vitamins.

Blood May Not Show It.

The examination of the blood, as it is done in a routine way by a technician in a laboratory, may show little indication to a physician that chlorosis exists. The old clinicians who made the diagnosis of chlorosis did so because they made their own blood examinations, a custom, which, unfortunately, in modern times has largely gone out of fashion.

Anemia, then, is a problem of adolescence which is often overlooked and disregarded. The diagnosis can be as much on the appearance of the child as on technical blood examinations.

I think it is proper to advise, however, that in the routine examination of the adolescent, the blood should be checked at least once a year.

The other important routine examination of the adolescent is for tuberculosis and it is, of course, possible that adolescent anemia may have tuberculosis as its causative background.

In all events, there can be no harm in careful attention to the adolescent's nutrition particularly with refer nce to seeing that he has plenty of iron in his food.

Listen, World!

You Must Learn To Live Alone.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HALF your troubles come from expecting the Other Fellow to live your life for you—and blaming him when he can't and won't.

You must learn to live alone. There are the six most difficult words in life to understand or accept. Most of us never do accept them. Instead, we waste our years, break our hearts and raise Cain generally, trying to duck or outsmart them to prove they aren't true.

But they are true. They are the bottom of all truth. And you'll never learn more about life, or succeed in doing anything with it, unless and until you have mastered this first lesson.

You must learn to live alone.

That doesn't mean living in isolation. Or without people. It simply means facing and accepting the fact that you are a solitary individual . . . that your only real life is the life within yourself . . . that no one else can or should be expected to live that life for you.

Life is a one-man job and by no possible contriving can you make it anything else. No matter how many people you know and love, no matter how many know and love you, you still must live your life alone. At the busiest moment of your career you are as solitary as you were at the moment of your birth, as you will be at the moment of your death.

"Men are spirits clad in veils—
Man by man was never seen—
All our striving somehow fails
To lift that which lies between."

Never were there truer words and you'll save yourself endless misery if you'll accept them immediately and get the misery over with.

You must learn to live alone. There are no exceptions to that law . . . no exemptions for special people, such as loving mothers, adoring wives, devoted sons and daughters. No matter who you are or what your job, you must learn to live in yourself and for yourself and to find your own makings of power, pleasure and peace. Or else.

You must learn to live alone. You must learn to think for yourself . . . or suffer the horrible consequences of an empty mind. You must learn to face things for yourself and fight your own fights . . . or bear the brand of a coward. And nobody can bear these things for you, or get you let off from these consequences.

Nor, I repeat, should anyone be expected to perform such tasks for you. Sympathy and service are sweet and comforting things, both to give and receive. But when it comes right down to brass tacks, Exhibit A is your personal responsibility. And unless, you're an infant or idiot, it's as much up to you to provide your own laughter, control your own tears and take your own beatings, as it is to wash your own teeth.

This, I realize, is an extremely unpopular theory. It will be particularly resented by sentimental people, who think things should be made soft for them because they were kind to their Dear Old Mothers or loved their Little Children. But I have yet to see anyone get by with these touching alibis.

Life was given you to live . . . to live proudly, passionately, abundantly. And if you fall down on the job, you'll get the works exactly like any other slacker. Nor does it matter how good you've been to your family, or how faithful to your boss. IF YOU'VE TREATED YOURSELF LIKE A WORM, YOU'LL BE TREATED LIKE ONE IN RETURN.

You must learn to live. You must learn to live alone. And if once you have the courage to tackle that job, you'll never again complain that your days lack drama or diversity. For the human who has learned the trick of living in himself has the world by the tail. No fooling!

Timely Editorial

Multiplied Dollars.

To aid a church building fund, a clergyman at Rockville Center, New York, gave out $500 in $1 bills to members of his flock and urged them to put their minds to work to make the bills bring in returns. Up to now the investment has returned $2,575, and many of the $1 bills are still working. One woman returned $25 from the sale of clam chowder; another purchased a textbook on public speaking, then gave lessons at 25 cents apiece, and returned $30. And so on.

It might be said that the $1 stake in these cases had little to do with the uses to which it was profitably put. Presumably each of the 500 already had a dollar. Actually, it was the ingenuity and effort of the individual that rolled the original dollar up into something worthwhile.—Detroit News.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Plea for Simple Living.

Let us return to simple life:
Heart loves an open fire
And reading, walking, woods and fields,
Of these, it could not tire.

The gentle happiness we find
In plain and simple things
Defeats the weariness of soul
That complex living brings.

Let us reduce this breathless round,
This pace that thoughtlessly
We have built up so that we shall
A finer living see.

A living savoring the hours,
Each single one, aware
Of beauty passing by, in thought,
In field and sky and air.

Daily Bible Thought

This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoreth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me.—Matt. 15:8.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Tip-off to the much discussed ousting of Leslie Hore-Belisha as British minister of war is the fact that his successor, Oliver Stanley, is one of the most pro-German members of the cabinet.

Stanley is the son of Lord Londonderry, educated in Germany and a member of the Cliveden set which was responsible for the Munich pact and encouraged a rapprochement with Hitler before war broke. Oliver Stanley, now 43 years old, has been promoted to high position solely through the influence of his father.

Add to this the facts that Hore-Belisha is Jewish and was the most active member of the British cabinet in prosecuting the war, and you get the main reason why Chamberlain ousted him.

The reason is: Chamberlain and the overwhelming majority of the cabinet want to make an early peace with Germany, then turn against Russia; and Hitler will not talk while a Jew is heading the British army's drive against Germany. With a pro-German minister of war, the chances for peace are better.

Also—and this must have been a contributing factor—Hore-Belisha was the most energetic, one of the youngest, and decidedly the most popular cabinet member in Britain. As such, he constituted the chief political threat to Chamberlain. He had greater potentialities than any other man for leading an effective opposition to Chamberlain. Many people predicted that he would be the next Prime Minister.

Therefore, it was better for Chamberlain to polish him off and place him on the side-lines now, rather than after he got too important.

It is worthwhile to remember that the Chamberlain cabinet is composed largely of men old in years, even older in mind. Anthony Eden, now minister of colonies, is young, but has not been a vigorous member of the Chamberlain cabinet. A quiet career man, he has been content to sit on the sidelines and let Hore-Belisha do the scrapping.

Malcolm MacDonald, son of Labor Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, also is young, but has been a big disappointment. As secretary for the Dominions he is a nonentity.

The Old Order.

WHEN Duff Cooper was First Lord of the Admiralty, he and Hore-Belisha made a young, hard-headed team of fighters for Empire defense. But with Duff Cooper's resignation Hore-Belisha remained the one representative of the new generation, surrounded by starchy representatives of a system which is making its last muddling stand.

These factors were more important than Hore-Belisha's row with the army, though this row was by no means petty. As war minister, Hore-Belisha first fired all the fuddy-duddies at the head of the army, replacing them with younger men. This was all right, but then he made the mistake of riding herd on the younger men.

Finally, and least forgivable of all, he democratized the British military schools, making it possible for a commoner to become a high ranking officer. Hitherto, British military colleges had been open only to young men of wealth and position. Hore-Belisha shocked the army by putting the cadets on the same status of equality as at West Point.

So the clique which controls the British army began greasing the skids for him from the very start. All of which added up to his exodus last week.

Squirrels on the Dole.

LAFAYETTE PARK, across from the White House, is a place where old men and tired stenographers and total strangers sit in the sun and think. The other day an old man stopped to feed nuts to a bob-tailed squirrel. Another man stopped to watch.

"Very tame," remarked the onlooker. "Does he know you?"

"Yes, but he would do this for anybody. So would all the squirrels here. They're all panhandlers; they're all on the dole, like the rest of us."

Landon's Job.

ONE of the few speeches Representative Joe Martin, astute Republican floor leader, will make this winter will be at the Kansas day dinner in Topeka, Jan. 29.

While Martin is definitely a dark-horse presidential possibility, he isn't lifting a finger to boost his candidacy and has emphatically told friends he wants nothing done in his behalf. If the lightning should strike, he would accept; but he will run up no rods for himself, and he takes a rigidly neutral stand toward all active candidates.

Martin's No. 1 goal is to be speaker of the house in case it goes Republican, and he will do nothing to impair his chances. He agreed to go to Topeka, hometown of Alf Landon, out of friendship for the ex-candidate.

Martin became warmly attached to Landon as one of his 1936 campaign managers. Landon has no 1940 choice as yet, is still "looking 'em over." But he wants the Middle West to get a close-up of all GOP possibilities.

The active candidates are themselves seeing that the region gets a chance to look them over. So because Martin is keeping aloof from the race, Alf invited him to be guest speaker at the Kansas day gathering.

"I'm doing my best," explained Landon, "to find the best man possible for the party. I conceive that to be my duty to the 17,000,000 Republicans who voted for me and thus named me as their leader."

Note — On that plea Martin couldn't say No. The dinner is attracting much attention among Midwestern Republican politicos. Delegations of them from all the states of the section will look Martin over; also do some powwowing on the increasingly active political situation.

Political-Go-Round.

NOISY, red-gallus-wearing Gene Talmadge, twice governor of Georgia and near winner of the 1938 senatorial race, is getting set for another try for the governorship this year. Both regular Democrats and New Dealers are canvassing the field for a strong candidate to oppose him. Prominently mentioned is State Agriculture Commissioner Columbus Roberts . . . . Senator Ed Burke, Nebraska anti-New Deal Democrat and strong labor board foe, genially admits he faces a tough re-election battle. "They're after me," he smiles, "but I think I'll make it." Opposing him for the Democratic nomination is Governor Roy Cochran . . . Mayor LaGuardia's strong farmer friends, the Farm Bureau Federation, continue to boost him in the grain belt. The colorful New Yorker will be principal speaker at the Iowa Farm Bureau convention in Des Moines, Jan. 18.

Rabbit Puzzle

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALONG the eastern border of the woods I came upon a fallen chestnut log. The snow had blown over the eastern side and piled a drift more than ten inches high. I saw where a gray squirrel had written the story of his morning walk upon this clean, white page. I saw where a rabbit had played about upon the fluffy snow and nibbled the bark from some wild apple sprouts. I looked carefully and saw where the tracks had entered, but none showed that he had left. I stood still and looked for him, beneath the log and in every crevice that was not filled with snow. I got down on my knees and pushed my face close to the eastern side of the fallen log, and the line of drift.

Here was deep rich mould that held pleasing warmth when I pushed the layers of leaves away, and gave off a woodsy fragrance. But no sign of a hidden rabbit. I thought I could almost feel his presence, too, as one feels the eyes of something watching him. I stayed there, protected from the cold west wind, for several moments but I did not hear a single movement. The drab enclosure, bordered by the snow, had the silence of a cave.

Surely I could not be mistaken that there were no outgoing tracks. I got to my feet to look again. At the highest point of the drift I saw rabbit tracks close together, then no trace that showed he had traveled farther. Unconsciously I had been staring all the time at a spot where some dark brown leaves and fallen bark hung tattered from a branch above. I still kept eyeing closely that spot, when slowly like a face emerging from a picture puzzle, the rabbit's head and slanting ears dawned upon me, out of the maze. Then I saw the outline of his back and hips. I looked away for a moment, then looked back. It seemed for a second that the modest creature had departed. His stillness and his blend with his surroundings had almost eluded me entirely.

He had backed up into the fallen leaves against the bark at the edge of snow and froze there, perhaps hours ago. I admired the cunning way he had hutched himself both for warmth and for invisibility. I smiled to myself as I went away and left him there in his rustic shelter.

OCEAN AIRLINES TO GET FULLER WEATHER DATA

U. S. Builds 2 Radio Stations to Service Big Planes While on Atlantic Flights.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Preliminary research is being completed at La-Guardia field, North Beach, for a comprehensive government oceanic weather information service for American trans-Atlantic airplanes and planes of any other nations which may fly the Atlantic after the war ends.

When the service is operating fully, it will make use of radio stations being constructed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Sayville, L. I., and near Warren Grove, Ocean county, N. J., about 10 miles southwest of Barnegat. These stations will be ready for operation early this year. The Sayville station will transmit, with enough power to reach Europe, and the Warren Grove station will receive.

Two meteorologists, J. C. Ballard and H. Raymond McQueen, are working at LaGuardia Field to reconstruct and expand the ocean weather service, which has been greatly curtailed by restrictions imposed by belligerent nations on their ships and land radio stations.

The existing U. S. government trans-Atlantic weather forecasts for trans-ocean planes are based on reports received by the weather bureau at Washington from a restricted number of surface vessels which may use radio. Some weather data also is received from Pan American Airways, which operates trans-Atlantic lines.

After the two radio stations are operating, the Sayville station will be able to transmit weather information to trans-Atlantic planes in flight, to surface vessels at sea and to radio stations throughout western Europe. The Warren Grove station will be able to pick up weather data from like points. The amount of information received, however, will be seriously curtailed as long as the war lasts.

Full Report Foreseen.

At the end of the war, C. A. A. and weather bureau officials hope to exchange weather information with European stations, with ships at sea of all nations, and with trans-Atlantic airplanes of any nations operating across the Atlantic.

Erection of new antennas at Sayville has been completed and transmitting apparatus now is being installed. A series of tests is being made with apparatus already in place.

At Warren Grove are being erected two buildings, one of which will house an emergency electric generator for use during any possible commercial power failure. Nine diamond antennas have been erected.

PREFER FRENCH

NEW YORK—(INS)—More high school students prefer to study French than all other foreign languages combined, according to a survey taken of New York high school graduates. The students, asked what languages they would like to continue in college, voted the following preferences: French, 56 per cent, Spanish, 24 per cent; Latin, 6 per cent.

COW IN PLANE

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—(INS)—It wasn't quite over the moon, but it was the best try so far when a cow was ferried by airplane from Anchorage to McGrath, a distance of nearly 250 miles. The cow, weighing 900 pounds, took the trip calmly, evincing little interest as the plane soared over mountain ranges. The animal was taken to a McGrath roadhouse to furnish milk for travelers.

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.
The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.
Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.
Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. 47c

TELL BILL GOODBYE + + + + + +

By MARIE BLIZARD

(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR

Chris had fallen back on her pillows. In a thin voice she said, "Have you got a hot water bag? My feet are terribly cold."

Fabienne went over to the cot and put her hand on Chris' brow. It was burning to touch and Chris' eyes, turned to her with helpless pleading, were alarmingly bright. Fabienne pulled the blankets closer about her throat and told her to be patient.

In the kitchen, she found a large dishpan and a can of mustard. It would take a long time to melt snow and heat it, but a mustard foot bath was the only remedy Fabienne could think of in her desperate necessity.

It took nearly an hour to heat the water to the right temperature over the grate Fabienne had made out of some strips of pipe, which fortunately did not melt as she feared they would, and which rested on a structure of bricks.

Chris had fallen asleep during the process., and when Fabienne wakened her and told her to put her feet in the steaming bath, she leaned her weight against Fabienne, too ill to know what she was doing.

When Fabienne would have her take a little hot soup, she turned her head away like a petulant child and closed her eyes, falling back into feverish sleep.

When she'd bathed Chris' face with snow and disposed of the footbath, she turned to Sonny. "Now then, my good little angel, we have to do something about you."

Children had to be bathed, fed, and given something to amuse themselves. Fabienne knew how to read to children and play their little games, but that was very different from finding herself in full charge of a kidnaped four-year-old convalescent whose mother was unable to offer so much as a suggestion about the necessary procedure.

Fabienne washed Sonny's face and hands and gave him an old magazine and some chunks of wood to play with. She had not called him an angel for no good reason. He WAS an angel.

All that endless, miserable day, when Fabienne spent the hours alternating between a worried watch beside Chris' bed and the radio, which she had placed in the kitchen so as not to disturb the sick girl, Sonny played by himself and went off to a nap as easily as if he had been in his little hospital cot. Oh, how Fabienne wished he were still there!

At noon she ate half a box of stale crackers and a bowl of soup and, feeling heartened by the food, and seeing Christine asleep, she put on her coat and hat and went out into the road to take her bearings.

The state road was only half a mile to the east and in that direction she started walking over the deep snow. Time and time again she sank into ruts, feeling the cold wet as high as her knees. She couldn't see far enough ahead of her to know if there was a house anywhere about. No vehicle had passed Bill's house all that day.

At last, realizing the further dangers of their predicament if she should get a chill like Chris, she turned back.

She looked up at the sky and felt that she could touch it. Surely it must be just beyond her head. The white blanket was so thick. It was warm on her face and she put out her tongue to feel it. The taste was salt. Fabenne was crying helplessly. It was her tears she tasted.

Hastily, she wiped away the tears and straightened her shoulders as if by that gesture she could give their frail structure strength to bear the weight of her responsibilities. She blamed herself for this foolhardy venture. She should have let Chris persuade her to drive to Boston. They'd have been stopped, of course, but Chris and the child would have gone to a hospital where they both belonged. She'd get out of it somehow. Larry would surely not let any punishment be meted out to them.

But then, she thought reasonably, she hadn't known that the storm would keep them prisoners out here in the last forsaken corner of the earth. She'd intended to telephone Bill as soon as it was light enough to find a telephone.

If anything happened to Chris now, it would be her fault. It would be on her conscience forever. She MUST do something!

Dusk was falling rapidly when she pushed her way through the snowy path to the house, giving a quick glance at her car, which was nearly obscured by the snow piled over the wheels, on the running board, half way up the door and on the roof.

The wind howled dismally and some of the snow blew into the room as she closed the door back of her with a bang.

Chris was sitting up, with her coat around her shoulders, smiling bravely. "I was worried about you," she said. "Where did you go?"

"Out to take bearings," Fabienne said, advancing to lay her hand on Chris' forehead. It was cooler. Fabienne felt a prayer come into her throat.

"I'm much better, but I feel weak. Awfully weak."

"Of course you do, darling. But your fever has abated. Now you must have some food. We'll have to get out of here soon and you must be able to travel."

The old stubborn look came back into Chris' face. "Not until Larry gets here."

"All right," Fabienne said soothingly, knowing the futility of arguing with a sick girl at that point.

"Then you may do whatever you want. Fabienne, do you know that when I had a fever I dreamed I heard a radio announcer talking about it?"

"That was no dream," she answered grimly. "I found my portable radio in the car when I went out for robes."

"Where is it?" Chris demanded, excitedly.

"In the kitchen. It isn't working very satisfactorily because of the storm. I've only been able to get snatches of things."

Before Fabienne was aware of what she was going to do, Chris had thrown off her covers and was speeding across the floor toward the kitchen.

Fabienne rose from before the fire which burned an astonishing amount of wood, and went after her.

Chris' piercing scream rent the air!

Fabienne felt her heart leap into her throat.

"What is it?" she cried, bounding across the room after Chris.

"A mouse!" Chris said, standing there on the cold floor in her stocking feet.

Fabienne felt anger spread through her tired body like a quick fire. "Get back into bed, Christine, at once!" she said, taking the radio away from her.

She set it on the floor and almost immediately it functioned clearly, as if the bump had been good for it.

They listened to it for nearly an hour, and then the news flash came.

"There is no trace yet of the missing Parsons child who was kidnaped at midnight last night from the Park-Plaza hotel. A nation-wide search is being made for the child's mother, Mrs Christine Mayhew Parsons, and for Fabienne Seymour, society social worker, who are believed to have taken the child. Lawrence Parsons, third, father of the child, arrived today from Europe on the Clipper plane and is aiding the police. . . ."

Chris snapped off the radio. "Go! Go now, Fabienne," she said, with the spots of fever showing again in her face. "Find Larry at once!"

BARRYMORE TO PLAY CLEVELAND

Noted Actor Opens Monday at Hanna in "My Dear Children."

John Barrymore, black sheep of the American Theater's Royal Family, the tragic Hamlet who has turned comic, appears in Cleveland next week at the Hanna theater in the farce-comedy, "My Dear Children."

Barrymore, one of the greatest actors of the American theater for more than a third of a century and who attained a similar place on the screen, returned to the theater only last year after an absense of a number of years.

"My Dear Children" presents Barrymore in a farce that is based on Shakespeare's tragedy "King Lear." The story revolves around Allan Manville, played by Barrymore, whose three daughters, by three different mothers, unexpectedly visit him to seek his aid in their love affairs. Like the daughters of King Lear they leave him when he needs them most.

The cast of the play, which opens Monday night and runs for a week at the Hanna, includes Doris Dudley, Tala Birell of the movies, Philip Reed, Lois Hall, and others.

Storekeepers in Ilford, north London suburb, have signed "mutual assistance pacts" providing that customers of a store forced to close because of air raid damage will transfer to another store included in the pact.

CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION

First Christian Members Gather For Dinner-Meeting Tomorrow.

The annual congregational meeting of the First Christian church will be held at the church tomorrow night.

A covered dish dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., followed by an election of officers for the church board, and reports of church organizations for the past year.

Brief talks will be given by Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor, Mrs. O. F. Shivley and John Selby, and J. B. Carter will preside during the business session. The choir in charge of Mrs. Bruce Rogers, president, will furnish music, and the Homakers class headed by Joe Bertka, president, will be in charge of tables.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Dancer Defies Nazi Goebbels

State Threatens to Take Over Athens County Relief

DEADLINE SET FOR ISSUING FOOD ORDERS

Welfare Director 'Convinced' Local Officials Have Necessary Power.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today the state of Ohio will take over full administration of relief in Athens county if local officials fail to issue scheduled relief orders Monday.

Sherwood was sharply indignant over the announcement of Athens County Relief Director Fred C. Shafer that Shafer could not issue additional orders unless he receives proper notice "from someone in authority."

County Auditor C. O. Gibson had asserted the county relief fund had a deficit of $10,000.

"I don't give a damn what either Shafer or the county auditor has to say and I'd like to be quoted verbatim on that," Sherwood exclaimed.

He contended Shafer has the authority necessary to issue orders. Sherwood is "convinced" adequate funds are available for the last half of January relief order distribution Monday.

"If Shafer doesn't issue the relief orders we'll go in there and set up our own relief administration," Sherwood said.

Audit Nearly Completed.

The state welfare director predicted "a rather interesting story" when the audit of the Athens county relief fund is completed by state welfare department auditors. The audit may be finished this week.

County Auditor Gibson said his deficit estimate was based on all available funds plus the amounts the county will receive for January and February in regular state relief aid.

Sherwood was to confer today with a group of unemployed Athens county coal miners regarding the relief situation.

assessments, if any were found due, after Michael Hallabrin of Mansfield filed a taxpayer's suit, charging that certain assets were not listed for taxation during the six-year period.

Counsel for the estate argued that a state law exempted certain personal holdings from taxation during the period. The law, however, was later declared unconstitutional and it was on that basis that Hallabrin charged taxes were unpaid.

19 Class Members Meet For Dinner; Program

There were 19 members and guests of the Katherine Von Bora class of the First Lutheran church present last night when Mrs. Max Williams, Mrs. Donald Ogden, Mrs. Harold Kroegher, Mrs. Wayne Anthony and Mrs. B. A. Landon served as hostesses for the covered-dish dinner meeting at the parish house.

Following the business meeting a program was presented by Marcella Grau and Martha Jane Davidson, two-piano team, and Mrs. Ivan Bauer who told a short story. The contests were won by Mrs. Rhea Williams and Mrs. John Brant. The next meeting will also be at the parish house on March 13.

NITRO KILLS O. S. R. PAROLEE, FLEEING AFTER BANK HOLD-UP

The criminal career of Forrest Miller, 25-year-old Ohio State Reformatory parolee, was over today, frustrated by violent death from his own weapon.

Miller, paroled six years ago after serving a term for burglary and larceny, was blown to death by a blast, believed from a bottle of nitroglycerin which he carried, 10 minutes after he held up the Port William Banking company near Wilmington, O., yesterday.

A posse of Port William townspeople was chasing the fleeing bandit south toward Wilmington when the automobile he was driving skidded from the highway into a ditch. A terrific explosion followed, blowing the driver from the machine.

The dramatic finish of a six-year crime career occurred one and one-half miles from the Clinton county village of 300 where Miller had lived alone in a shack.

He strolled into the bank yesterday afternoon and pulled a small medicine bottle and a sugar sack from his pocket and then shoved a note through the cashier's cage to H. H. Hiatt.

The note said:

"Put all the money in this bag or I will blow you to bits."

Hiatt, dispatches from Wilmington said, stuffed $324 into the sack and Miller made his getaway in a 1927 model automobile. A hastily organized posse overtook Miller a short distance from Port William and his car skidded into the ditch.

The money bag was tossed in the snow and then came the explosion. Police said they believed Miller set of the nitro when he saw escape was futile. All but $4.41 of the money was recovered.

Miller had twice served prison terms. The first was when he was 18 and he was convicted of burglarizing a bank at Sabina in Clinton county and sent to the reformatory for one to 15 years.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said he was paroled Mar. 15, 1934 after serving 13 months.

Found guilty of another robbery later, he served a second sentence in the Ohio penitentiary.

Meanwhile in Cleveland yesterday, a former reformatory inmate who was paroled 13 months ago, faced probable sentence to the penitentiary after he was picked from a police line-up as the gunman who robbed a restaurant early in September.

Reports from Cleveland identified the suspect as James Wollwebber, 22, who was picked up Sept. 19 for violating his parole. Languishing in jail since then, he asked to be put in one of the police lineups because he wanted to "limber up" a little.

Police complied with the request, with the result that Norman Shiesl, a chef at the restaurant, picked Wollwebber out as the man who had robbed him of $145.

He was found guilty by a jury yesterday and is expected to be sentenced Saturday.

VILLAGE SETS UP 1940 FUNDS

$2,000 Appropriated by South Boulevards for Operating Expenses for Year.

An appropriation providing $2,000 for the operation of the South Boulevards village government in 1940 was approved last night by the village council at a special session at the home of Mayor E. C. Flory.

Most of the funds will pay salaries and provide for street repair and maintenance. The village will get approximately $500 in state gasoline tax and auto license funds and the rest of its money from the county property tax.

Kenneth Shaffer, Mansfield engineer who is conducting a survey for a proposed $100,000 sewage system in the village, told council he will have complete figures ready in two weeks to submit to WPA.

A $27,500 bond issue was voted last fall by the village to pay the sponsor's share of the cost of the project. Federal funds will be sought for the rest.

Council last night approved a new house-numbering plan which will prepare the suburban district for annexation to the city of Mansfield should the city agree to accept it. The numbers will start from the east and north sections of the village, beginning at 450 on the east and 1,000 on the north, Clerk H. B. Scoles said.

Lester Lown is president of the council committee in charge of the house numbering. Walter E. Rusk, deputy county engineer, will draw up plans for the work.

'Y' MEETING SET

5 Directors to Be Elected at Annual Session Jan. 29.

Date of the annual Y. M. C. A. meeting was set for Jan. 29 by the "Y" board of directors at a dinner last night at the Evergreens cafeteria.

The annual meeting will be open to all Y. M. C. A. members. At that time five directors will be elected. Terms of five board members expired at the end of 1939. They are Dr. C. W. Frickman, J. W. Galbraith, A. M. Colby, E. D. Baxter and Harvey Bailey, board president.

A nominating committee of three was named by Bailey. They are R. M. Calene, Louis Ott and Earl Troll.

Reports of various committee chairmen were given, including those of Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, and Donald Cram, physical director. They reported that participation in activities at the "Y" during the recent Christmas holidays was the heaviest in the past eight years.

HOPE TO KEEP U. S. SPENDING WITHIN BUDGET

Senators Win Backing for Bill Proposed "To Call President's Bluff."

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Encouraged by a wave of congressional economy demands, a little nucleus of Senate appropriations committee members today started a campaign for legislation limiting Senate spending bills to President Roosevelt's budget recommendations.

Senator Adams (D) Colorado, led the movement, and said he wanted to "call the president's economy bluff." Drastic reductions below last year's appropriations were provided in the new $8,424,000,000 budget. Adams said he wanted to "call Congress' bluff on economy too."

Adams proposed a resolution ruling out of order any Senate appropriations bill amendments increasing totals above budget figures. He was quickly joined by Senator Byrd (D) Virginia.

Senate appropriations committee Chairman Glass (D) Virginia, who has consistently urged a reduction of expenditures, said he would "consider" the plan and make his decision on it later.

Seen Economy Boost.

"Adoption of this resolution," Adams said, "would make it necessary to suspend Senate rules to increase appropriations above the budget, and that would take a two-thirds vote. If we do this we take a long step towards putting recommended economies into effect. If we don't, we'll go above the budget and there won't be any economy."

Byrd commented: "I'm a hundred per cent for such a plan."

Senator Bailey (D) North Carolina, not an appropriations committee member, said: "I'm for anything that will stop this spending."

Adams action followed house appropriations committee adoption of a resolution with the same end in view, providing that subcommittees must submit any proposed increases to the full committee.

OUTLINES PLAN

Mehock Tells Schoolmasters of New Athletic Program.

An outline of the new athletic program recently inaugurated in the Mansfield public school, and its purposes, was given by Harry Mehock, athletic director, at a meeting of the Mansfield Schoolmasters' club last night at Madison high school.

The evening's program also included two reels of sports motion pictures furnished by Harry Delaney, Mansfield projectionist. They were "High Spots of Sports in 1939," and "Football Highlights of 1939." The program was preceded by a dinner.

Following the program a basketball game between a team of Mansfield teachers and a team from Canton McKinley high school was played, with the Mansfield group winning 50 to 36. Seven members of the McKinley faculty were guests at the meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 14 with a committee made up of A. L. Derr, chairman, G. W. Harmony, and V. Leland Gilliland in charge of arrangements.

BOARD ELECTS FINEFROCK AS RED CROSS HEAD

Annual Report Shows Richland Unit Has 10,700 Members, Highest Since War.

Officers and executive board members for the Richland County Chapter of the Red Cross were elected yesterday at the annual meeting of the chapter at Red Cross headquarters in the Bowers building.

John H. Finefrock, who has been a member of the board for years and has served both as chapter vice president and Roll Call chairman, was elected chapter president by the new board.

Milo W. Hieber was named vice president; Allen Bond was re-elected treasurer, and Gertrude B. English was renamed executive secretary.

Finefrock succeeds Roy R. Spetka who was named early in the fall to fill out the unexpired term of Mayor William J. Locke.

Two new members were elected to the executive board. They were R. K. Clark and E. S. Weller. The other board members re-elected were, Finefrock, Bond, Hieber, Mrs. L. A. Damas, Mrs. W. J. Bishop, L. W. Birch, Hayes M. Braker, Harold D. Burns, Lewis M. Campbell, Mrs. George L. Draffan, Joseph T. Geiger, R. D. Iden, W. J. Locke, Mrs. John Pierce, Roy Spetka, Mrs. Alan Tappan, Fred L. Tracy, Dr. Hugh C. Winbigler, Dr. R. C. Wise, and Mrs. G. W. Pickens of Plymouth and Mrs. J. B. Kochheiser of Bellville. The Shelby representatives have not yet been named.

Mrs. English's annual report shows that the chapter now has 10,700 members, the highest since the World war years. During the past year two new highway first aid stations were added, making ten in the county.

The Junior Red Cross purchased 48 pairs of eye glasses for indigent school children with funds which were raised largely by collecting sales tax stamps. War relief was an important phase of chapter responsibilities the latter part of the year. The chapter contributed $300 from its general fund to the Polish refugees fund, and supervised the making of several hundred garments for them.

Finefrock will appoint standing committee chairmen within the next few days.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

MISS MARIE YOAKAM, CHRIS DESCHNER TO WED

Couple Will Exchange Vows at St. John's Church Feb. 3; Announcement Made to Friends at Dessert Party.

FEBRUARY marriages will be the leading society news of the mid-winter season we judge, if the early announcements of engagements and wedding dates can be considered a reliable index. Last night when Mrs. Nicholas Wagner, 219½ West Fourth street, entertained three tables at a dessert party she revealed the coming marriage of her sister, Miss Marie Yoakam.

The guests were seated at small tables decorated with pink and green appointments and pink roses. Ice cream molds served the guests bore the legend "Chris and Marie, Feb. 3," and disclosed the coming nuptials. Mrs. Wagner, who will be her sister's only attendant, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. G. F. Yoakam.

Miss Yoakam will become the bride of Chris Deschner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Deschner, 27 Small avenue, at 2 p. m. Feb. 3. Rev. Paul H. Saleste will read the ceremony. Mr. Deschner has chosen his brother, Philip, as best man.

Miss Yoakam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Yoakam, 62 Johns avenue. She is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and is employed as cashier at the Park theater. Mr. Deschner was also graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

At last night's announcement party Mrs. Wagner awarded prizes in hearts to Miss Violet Ryan and Miss Bette Wentz. She gave the bride-elect a personal gift.

Charity Club Has Annual Meeting; Report On Work

At the annual meeting of the Charity club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. P. Siegenthaler, Forest Hill road, work for the past year was reported, and officers were elected. Mrs. George Draffan will serve in the capacity of president during 1940. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louis Lamoreux, vice-president, Miss Kathleen Sturges, secretary; Mrs. George Mead, treasurer, and Mrs. Burton Preston, work chairman. Mrs. George Stephens, Marion avenue, will entertain Jan. 23.

The work reported included three flannel blankets, three flannel dresses, 94 diapers, six tray cloths, 20 draw sheets, 53 T-binders, 16 terry clothes, 22 baby dresses, 79 towels, 37 napkins, two O-B sheets, 34 gauze sponges, 41 baby bands, five O-B bags, six baby gowns, 37 glove cases, 25 dresser scarves, 12 pillow cases, and two masks.

Eight baby shirts were made for the visiting nurses, and 12 Red Cross Bags were made. The group also made 16 slips for the Service League.

Simple Ceremony Wednesday Event

Rev. J. E. Marshall read the simple nuptial ceremony at the St. Mark's Lutheran church last night which united in marriage Miss Belva Stafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Baker, Ontario, and Wylie Flockenzier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Flockenzier, 647 Springmill street. The marriage was solemnized at 6:30 p. m. at the church with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bell as the only attendants.

The bride was attired in a royal blue and gold costume. A reception at the bridegroom's home followed the ceremony. After Jan. 15 Mr. and Mrs. Flockenzier will be at home at 520½ Springmill street. The bridegroom, who attended Mansfield Senior high school, is employed at the Arrow Cab company.

Among the wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Keltner, Crestline, and Charles Newhouse, Bucyrus.

GIVE PROGRAM.

The annual covered-dish dinner of the Good Cheer class of South Main Street Evangelical church was held at the church last evening with 20 members in attendance. Mrs. A. C. Minard conducted a short business meeting, after which Miss Joan Freeland and William Ingram gave readings. Miss Jean Cleckner played several selections on the vibraphone, and the program was concluded when the Misses Katherine Landfair and Evelyn Minard played a bass fiddle and accordion duet. The place of the Feb. 14 meeting will be announced later.

ENTERTAIN HUSBANDS.

Members of the Willing Workers society of the Little Washington church entertained their husbands with a covered-dish luncheon at the church yesterday noon. Quilting was done during the afternoon, and Mrs. Mary Durbin invited the group to her home for quilting next Wednesday.

JOINT INSTALLATION HELD BY RELIEF UNITS

Women's Relief Corps of McLaughlin Camp, Juniors Have Ritualist Service Following Covered-Dish Dinner at Hall.

THE joint installation of officers of the Women's Relief Corps of McLaughlin Camp and the Junior corps was an event of last night following the 6 o'clock covered-dish dinner which was served in the Memorial building. Mrs. Jane Beelman served as installing officer for the younger group.

Miss Betty Edmonstone was installed as president, and will also serve as national alternate. Her corps of officers includes Miss Naomi Meyers, senior vice-president and national delegate; Miss Beatrice Shade, junior vice-president; Miss Mary Ellen Hoffer, chaplain; Miss Ruth Wagner, treasurer; Miss Betty Bugbee, captain of the colors; Miss Doris Stinebring, guard attendant; Miss Mary Ann Edmonstone, department delegate, and Miss Betty Bowman, alternate.

Advisers of the group are Mrs. Helen Glathart, Mrs. Jane Neff, Mrs. Jane Beelman and Mrs. Arla Bowman. The juniors will meet again tomorrow for a regular session at the hall.

Mrs. Clyde Neff, assistant department inspector of Ohio, was installing officer and Mrs. Emma Hancock was installing conductress for the women's unit.

Officers are Mrs. Charles Edmonstone, president; Mrs. Sarah Case, senior vice-president; Miss Florence Matthes, junior vice-president; Mrs. Alta Ruby, chaplain; Miss Mary Beilstein, treasurer; Mrs. Ethel Constance, secretary; Mrs. Della Cochran, conductress; Mrs. Arla Kimes, assistant conductress; Mrs. Glathart, press correspondent; Mrs. Catherine Sattler, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Mary Somers, guard; Mrs. Anna Butts, assistant guard; Mrs. Beelman, Mrs. Julia Grandstaff, Mrs. Inez Tawse, and Mrs. Alice Maxwell, color bearers.

The next regular corps meeting will be held at the hall Jan. 24.

DISTRICT SESSION.

The district meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held at Galion Saturday beginning at 9:30 a. m. with the Naomi chapter No. 47 serving as hostess. Members of the Mansfield group are planning to attend the all-day gathering.

Valentine Party Will Be Feature Of Club Program

Arrangements for a Valentine dessert-bridge party were made last night when members of the Mansfield Junior Sorosis met with Mrs. Robert Hall on Chilton avenue. The party, an event of Feb. 14, will be held at the home of Miss Frances E. Gensley, 136 Glenwood boulevard, with Miss Florence White as co-hostess.

Following the routine business meeting which was conducted by Mrs. A. H. Moellenkamp, president, Mrs. Harold Mansfield was appointed ways and means chairman. The program was then presented by Mrs. Mansfield and Mrs. Eugene Linham.

The first speaker gave a comprehensive discussion of the Virgin Islands, devoting much of her time to an explanation of the hurricanes which are a threat to the peace and tranquillity of the district. Mrs. Linham talked on the Azores, a group of small islands which are to all practical accounts a veritable paradise. She told of the pineapple and tobacco raising and the lace making industries of the group.

Mrs. William Hauserman, 680 West Fourth street, will entertain Jan. 24. Miss Gensley and Miss Edith Beck will present the papers.

NEW INSTANT COLD-WATER SUDS SAVES STOCKING COLOR!

Women everywhere are raving how a new kind of cold-water suds keeps their hosiery colors keener and brighter. Now you can launder all fine things without hot water, because this new laundry suds is not a soap. It is 100 times as soluble as soap in cold water. This amazing new product is called Vel, and Vel has 4 virtues not found in any soap! Vel gives instant suds in cold water. It contains no alkali to fade colors. It can't form soap-scum to cause that cottony after-look. And Vel contains no acid or alkali to irritate your hands. Every woman knows how tough hot water and soap-scum can be on stockings and finer things. But here's thrilling news. Vel, the amazing new cold-water suds perfected by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, does away with these enemies of fine fabrics. Vel is so ideal for all fine fabrics, because it dissolves instantly in cold water to make mountains of billowy, cleansing suds. See your finer things keep their delicate sheerness and fresh color amazingly longer. See how Vel leaves no ring around the bowl proving no ruinous soap-scum can stay in dainty things to cause cottony afterlook. So try Vel, the amazing, instant cold-water suds today. Buy Vel today at any grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

BUY RIGHTS

M-G-M to Make Bromfield's 'Bombay Nights' Into Film.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios have purchased the screen rights to Louis Bromfield's current magazine serial, "Bombay Nights," and work of preparing the novel for filming will get under way at once, according to dispatches from Hollywood.

The story will be a screen vehicle for Joan Crawford, who will play Carol Halma, ex-chorus girl and divorcee, whose Scandanavian roots go deep into the simpler life despite her life as a cosmopolite and dilatante.

Miss Crawford has just finished "Strange Cargo" in which she co-starred with Clark Gable. The roles of the three male leads in the Bromfield story have not been cast. Production is scheduled to start in a few weeks.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Jan. 12.

THE LUNAR aspects for this day may be read as holding conflicting experiences. There is a sign of a surprising about-face in certain situations, demanding a change of plans, interests and probably surroundings, with more or less disturbance and confusion. There also is promise of a very definite stabilizing of the affairs, especially in reconstructing old or lagging circumstances, with the solid support or endorsement of elderly persons or old-established institutions. Lively affectional or romantic engagements are indicated.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much progress in stabilizing the affairs, probably through sound plans, application and the friendly offices of elders or old institutions. Change of plans, place and objectives may be involved, with some turmoil and anxiety. An element of romance or sentiment is of major importance, and there is prospect of courtship or matrimony to enhance the stabillizatin.

A child born on this day may have many solid and enduring factors for a successful and happy life. It may be steady, studious, faithful and dependable, winning the preferment of its elders and superiors. Affection, graciousness and kindness also predominate.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I intend to tell Philip I will marry him whenever he likes—provided he asks me again," she finished with a whimsical smile at me.

"Then," I said with a relieved, answering smile, "I think I shall ring up the caterer and the florist. All doubt is over."

"Better wait a day or two,' she said, laughing, as I rose to leave the room. Then she added quickly:

"Would you mind interrupting that tennis game and telling Olina I wish her to come to me. I shall have to have aid with my dressing, but you need not tell her that," she interpolated mischievously. "I am afraid my daughter planned to accomplish this morning what over here you would term putting one over on Mother."

"I will tell her," I said demurely, adding to myself emphatically, "with great pleasure." Aloud, however, I only dropped a last precautionary word.

"May I ask that you do not let Olina discover that you know what she wishes about the harp? Mary told me, and I am sure she would not wish Olina to know that through her—and myself—you had gained the knowledge. Alas! I seem fated to be a wholesale betrayer of confidences this morning."

"Don't score yourself that way!" Queen Olga adjured. "You have done a great day's work this morning. I am most grateful, and I am sure that a little later Olina will be also. Oh! by the way, would it be too much trouble to have Katie bring me up some small pieces of ice?"

"Of course not. I will send her up right away," I said, and departed on the word.

I went first to the kitchen, delivering the message concerning the ice to Katie, and then told her to be ready to send up a pot of coffee and some tiny sandwiches and cakes to Queen Olga's rooms at about 11 o'clock. Katie's face screwed itself up comically,and she laid a finger alongside her nose and closed one eye.

"Aha!" she said melodramatically. "Me, I can dee-dooce vat she vants ice for dot qveen. She going get all dolled up, face all freshened und everyting, so she ready to vamp her old boy friend."

I managed to get out a reproving "Katie!" before I fled, and was thankful that I was able to put the kitchen door safely between us before doubling up with the laughter which her attempts at "dee-dooc-ing" things, based upon her "detectatuff" school correspondence course, invariably bring to me.

"Let me in on the joke will you?" Dicky said as he passed through the hall.

"Hush!" I adjured him frantically in a whisper, and beckoned him to the outer door.

"I'm going down to the tennis court to get Olina," I said, "Walk along with me, and I'll tell you the joke and much more besides."

THEATERS

SO LONG as men have imagination and are thrilled by reckless adventure, the character of Francois Villon, vagabond poet of Paris, will have a place in drama and music. Paramount made a screen version of "The Vagabond King" in the early days of talkies, with Dennis King and Jeanette MacDonald in the leads. King had starred in the Rudolf Friml operetta on the stage. And now M-G-M has purchased "Vagabond King" as the next vehicle for Nelson Eddy. No feminine lead has been selected. The operetta has such melodic numbers as "Only a Rose," "The Hugette Waltz" and "Song of The Burgundians." Villon in his role of king for a few days was recently seen on the screen with Ronald Colman playing the poet and Frances Dee as Lady Katherine, in "If I Were King." William Farnum played it in the old silent screen days and E. H. Sothern played it on the stage.

"Mexican Spitfire."

Lupe Velez who goes in for hair pulling and throwing things in real life does her stuff for the screen in "Mexican Spitfire" which the Madison presents for tomorrow only. Aided and abetted by Leon Errol, Lupe cleans house on the wedding guests who are waiting to see her husband married to another girl. Donald Woods is the husband, and Errol plays a dual role, that of Uncle Matt and Lord Epping and his antics have the rest of the cast going around in circles trying to keep up.

Exciting Eight Hours.

For tomorrow only the Ohio offers "City of Chance" with Lynn Bari, C. Aubrey Smith, Donald Woods and Amanda Duff. Miss Bari, a news reporter, crashes the forbidding bronze doors of an exclusive gambling club to get a story for her paper and for police, and runs into the most exciting eight hours of her life. It not only changes her life but that of several people in the club, including the operator who planned to make his first million easy.

His Mother's Maid.

Cunning little Francisca Gaal, Hungarian actress who came to America to make her debut in "The Buccaneer" with Fredric March several years ago, made "The Girl Downstairs" as one of her latest pictures before returning to Europe. She is seen opposite Franchot Tone in this romance of a playboy and a French girl who are married and return to his New York home where his bride is forced into the role of maid. The film opens at the Ritz tomorrow, with a Western action film also on the bill.

Gracie Allen Case.

For the third time the "Gracie Allen Murder Case" returns to Mansfield when the Majestic presents it Friday and Saturday. As the title suggests Gracie Allen turns sleuth and aids in solving a murder mystery in a thoroughly novel manner. Warren William and Kent Taylor are in the cast. Col. Tim McCoy in "Texas Wildcats" will be the Western for the last two days of the week.

100 Per Cent Trio.

Box-office appeal runs high in the trio at the Park for the last two days of the week. Ronald Colman, beautiful Madeliene Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., are starred in "The Prisoner of Zenda." Colman plays the dual role of the king and the English soldier of fortune, while young Fairbanks plays Rupert of Hentzau. Miss Carroll is the Princess Flavia. A second film is Roy Rogers in "In Old Caliente."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOBODY INFALLIBLE

Bidding tactics never can be developed to such a precise point that you can be sure fire on freak hands. Sometimes the arrangement of the unseen cards is so queer that nothing but very bad bidding could possibly put you in the most profitable contract. When that occurs, and you find you have taken a licking on a deal which might have produced a good score, don't lose confidence in your methods and logic. Remember they are devised with the idea that they will work well the greatest possible percentage of time, but that occasionally they must miss. That is one reason why bridge is a good game.

Frank Castle in the West and Julius Aceves in the East, skilled bidders and players, gave an example of sound bridge philosophy in the post-mortem of this deal. South opened with 1-Diamond, Mr. Castle bid the forcing 2-Diamonds in the West, North 2-Hearts and Mr. Aceves in the East 2-Spades. Then it went South 3-Diamonds, West 4-Clubs, North 4-Diamonds, East 5-Clubs, South 5-Diamonds, West 6-Clubs and this passed around to South, who then called 6-Diamonds, which Mr. Castle doubled.

The contract was, of course, a cinch, by means of a cross-ruff, only one trick in spades being lost. But at the end of the hand everybody realized 7-Clubs could have been just as easy for East and West.

"Neither of us could know that," said Mr. Castle. "My partner, hearing my strong bidding and having an ace himself, must feel sure we could beat the diamond slam, but couldn't tell we had no losers in hearts and clubs." So, instead of being upset for the next deal, they were able to play their bridge again, with morale high.

Billy Conn Wins First as Heavyweight

Lou at Work—But Not With Bat

With the beginning of the new year, Lou Gehrig goes to work as a member of the New York city parole board. Gehrig, former star of the New York Yankees baseball club, had to quit baseball this last summer when an attack of paralysis set in. He is shown with his secretary.

Yanks, Who're They?

Harder and Milnar Point to Themselves as 2 Reasons Rifles' Will Have Trouble.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Many a baseball pennant, won in the effortless security of the Hot Stove league, is fumbled away in the summer. But a pair of Cleveland pitchers refused today to concede anything to the New York Yankees in the 1940 American league race.

The veteran Mel Harder, afflicted with a lame salary wing the first two months last season, and Al Milnar, then just an untried southpaw with lots of stuff and no control, pointed to themselves as two of the reasons.

Other factors, the hurlers said, are Lou Boudreau, a newcomer making the grade in the Indians' perennial gap at shortstop; Oscar Grimes, infield handy-man, and Ray Mack, second baseman.

Three times a week Harder and Milnar work out on a program designed to help each produce 20 victories.

"We have a good chance of winning if we get a few breaks," declared Milnar, perspiring from a game of handball. "I have more confidence this year. I was about a month late getting started last season."

Declared Harder: "I'm going to do everything in the world to get myself in shape the start of this season. I cut loose too soon last year. Now I'm going to forget about the exhibition games, even the first week of the season, if necessary. It's better to miss the first week instead of the first two months."

* * *

Despite those troubles, Harder hung up 15 victories last year and Milnar 14 to help the Tribe finish third.

Sells, Corwin Set Pace In Victory

Shooting perfect scores from prone, Fred Sells and "Fleet" Corwin compiled respective scores of 291 and 281 to lead the Mansfield Rifle club to a 1356 to 1325 victory over Bucyrus on the Mansfield indoor range last night. Hutchison led the visitors with 285. He and Hill, a teammate, also scored perfect targets from prone.

News-Journal Sports Editor.

YOU were offered a chance to see the New York Celtics. They're good. Mighty good, in fact.

Friday night you will be given the opportunity to take a peek at another crack professional basketball club . . . the New York Renaissance, to be specific.

A team composed of City league All-Stars unexpectedly trimmed the Celtics. Perhaps that same team couldn't do it again, but that's unimportant.

The Celtics are good. They proved it the night after bowing to the home town team when they trimmed the socks off the touted Waterloo Wonders.

Just what the City league representatives will be able to do against the great Renaissance team is a question. But whether you believe it or not, the New York colored team is the greatest basketball team on tour today.

The Rens' record speaks for itself. They have been beaten only four times in 200 games, and not one of the defeats was administered by the Celtics, whom the Rens met several times last season.

In fact, the Celtics will remember a particular game with the Renaissance. The colored cagers kept the ball in their possession six full minutes without a Celtic touching it.

What does "Dutch" Dehnert, Celtics' veteran manager, think of the Rens. "They're the best in the business," he unashamedly stated on the Celtics' recent visit. "We're not ready for them," Dehnert added.

Rens Too Tough, Waterloo Admits.

HOW do the Rens stack up with other crack basket outfits? Well, there are the Waterloo Wonders, for example. In a game not so long ago, we understand the Rens obtained a 30 to 0 lead on the Wonders, and then the pilot of Waterloo told the colored team's manager in no uncertain teams to "give us a break."

The Renassiance club is not as well known as the Celtics, but it is the class of the pro basketball field today.

Let's take a glance at the personnel of the club. "Bruiser" Saitch. He is an excellent floor man and, perhaps the reason is that he was once the national colored tennis champion.

"Tarzan" Cooper measures six feet four inches in his stocking feet. His tremendous height makes him a dangerous man around the bucket.

But Cooper is not the giant of the club. The tallest is "Wee Willie" Smith, a Cleveland boy, who is two inches taller than Cooper. He is a colorful performer, a crowd pleaser.

Isaacs Unanimous All-America Pick.

JOHN ISAACS was a unanimous choice for the All-America high school basketball team two years ago. "Pop" Skith is another youngster who gained great fame in scholastic circles. "Puggy" Bell is one of the team's best shots. "Zack" Taylor, is a great defensive player.

These players should present Mansfield basketball-goers with one of the greatest court attractions of the year. The City league stars may not come anywhere near beating the Rens, but the fans are certain to see some great basketball.

Match Stars' Speed

Renaissance Cagers Also to Hold Height Advantage at High School Gym Friday.

SPEED won the ball game for the City league All-Stars against the famous New York Celtics a couple of weeks ago.

But the advantage the All-Stars held in this department is not expected to be as wide Friday night when the home town hoopsters tangle with the New York Renaissance at Mansfield high school.

Regarded as the fastest pro team on tour, the Rens are also said to be the cleverest ball handlers in the business.

That they are demons on the offense is proven by the figures which show that the colored quintet has averaged more than 50 points per game this season.

The Renaissance courtiers will also pack a height advantage that will be difficult for the Mansfield team to overcome.

"Wee Willie" Smith, crack center of the Renaissance club, towers six feet, six inches into the air. "Tarzan" Cooper, the toughest pivot man since the active playing days of "Dutch" Dehnert of the Celtics, is only two inches shorter.

The team as a whole averages better than six feet in height, while the All-Stars will hardly reach six feet on an average. The biggest All-Stars are Tom Ferrell, Al Stickler and Howard Baker.

* * *

Because of the Mansfield team's victory over the Celtics, Friday's game is expected to attract a record crowd. The admission will be the same as for the Celtic game, league officials said today.

Play Only One Game on Trip

Tygers Fail to Sign Second Foe for Saturday.

Attempts to sign an opponent in southern Ohio for Saturday night have proven unsuccessful, Coach Vern Hoffman of Mansfield high school said today.

But, Hoffman hinted, it was probably just as well, as he expects the Tygers to encounter more than an average amount of trouble at Hamilton Friday night.

It was Hoffman's intentions to play another game in that vicinity as long as it was necessary to make the trip.

Hoffman contacted athletic officials of Middletown high early this week, but they were forced to refuse the Tygers. Middletown is reported to have one of the strongest clubs in the state this year.

While Hamilton is not believed to be as strong as last season, the club is expected to advance to the state tournament. Paul Sarringhaus one of the greatest high school athletes in the state is the mainstay of the Hamilton club.

PAYCHEK TRIUMPHS

ORLANDO Fla.—Johnny Paychek, 189 Des Moines, knocked out Pietro Georgi 182, Los Angeles, (4).

If Otterbein Wins, Co-eds Won't Mind.

WESTERVILLE — (NS) — As long as Otterbein's cagers win an occasional game, the coeds won't mind in the least the strict "date" policy laid down by the basketball team candidates.

At least that was the contention advanced by the young ladies today as they finished organizing the "Otterbein basketball widows' association."

When the cagers adopted a rule agreeing that they would eliminate dating on nights before games and go home on other nights at 10 p. m., the coeds registered stern protests, especially if the current boy friend happened to be on the cage squad. But after Otterbein knocked off Denison, the team leading the Ohio conference pennant chase at the time, the lassies decided to become cooperative and, if necessary, rigidly enforce the regulation adopted by the players themselves.

Hang Up Fifth Straight Win

Mayflower Cagers Rally to Defeat Central M. E.

Mayflower cagers registered their fifth straight victory to protect their lead in the Church Class A league at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The undefeated Mayflower quintet trailed Central M. E. 17 to 15 going into the final period, and was forced to rally to come out on top. The Mayflowers tallied 12 points to one in the last frame. (Note—The Mayflower-Central M. E. was not complete for publication.)

Rayburn tallied 17 points to lead Park Avenue Baptist to a 33 to 15 triumph over First Lutheran and Fogle scored 10 as First M. E. won over St. John's, 31 to 21.

Webb Returns To Major Loop

Ex-Indian Goes to Chisox For Two Infielders.

CHICAGO — (NS) — A straight player deal involving no cash which brings Jimmy Webb, St. Paul shortstop, to the Chicago White Sox for two utility infielders was announced today by Sox Vice President Harry Grabiner.

In exchange for Webb, the Sox sent Ollie Bejma and John Gerlach to the American association club. Bejma played in 90 games for the Sox last season, batting .251. Gerlach was recalled from Shreveport, where he had been optioned last year.

* * *

Webb, who was sent to St. Paul by Cleveland recently, played 81 games last season with the Indians, batting .264. He is reported to be an able performer at any infield spot.

CONDITION IMPROVED

SPRINGFIELD— (NS) —Slightly improved but not out of danger was the report today on the condition of H. A. (Buck) Rider, assistant state conservation commissioner, who was in a Springfield hospital with injuries suffered when his auto skidded into a tree.

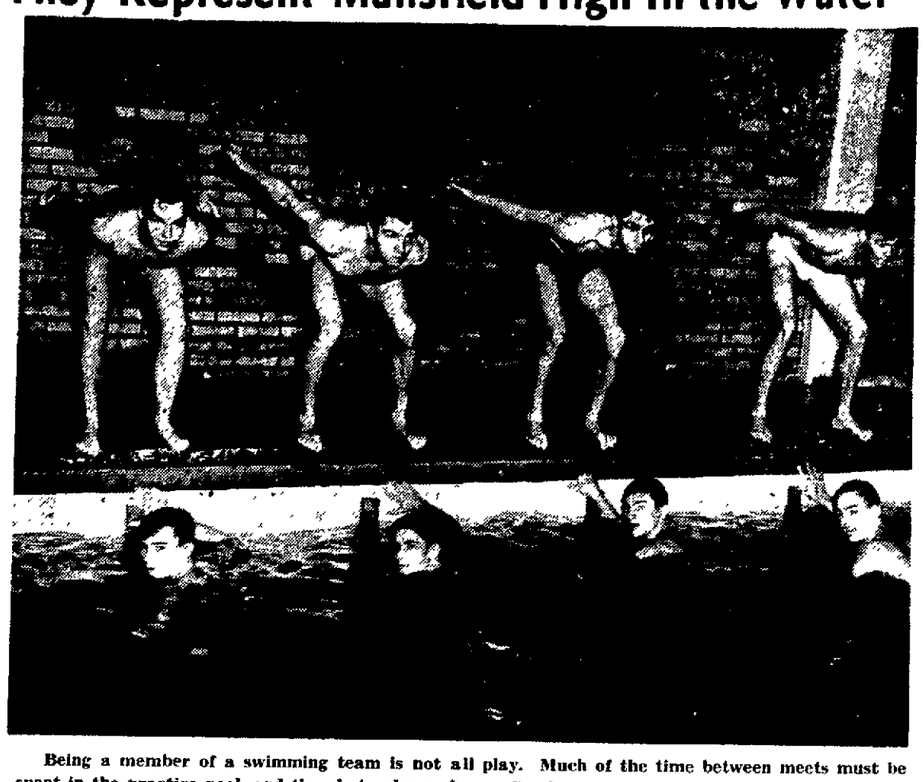
They Represent Mansfield High In the Water



Being a member of a swimming team is not all play. Much of the time between meets must be spent in the practice pool, and the photo above shows Coach Paul Snyder's mermen of Mansfield high school going through a drill in preparation for one of their foes. The photo shows, top row, left to right, Lynn McCorkindale, Dick Sowash, Nick Weimer and Bill Pace; in the water, Bob Huelett, Lydon Beam, Charles Betz and Dave Walker.

The Mansfield mermen will meet Sandusky in the Lake City pool Saturday morning. The Blue Streaks are undefeated.

Bellville Tilt Tops Schedule

Bluejays Hosts to Rees' Minutemen Friday.

Heading the Richland county league schedule Friday night will be a battle between the undefeated Bellville Bluejays and the second place Lexington Minutemen at Bellville. Bellville has won five straight league games.

Beats Cooper Easily

Slight Cut Over Loser's Eye Only Damage of Fight Which Attracted 5,658.

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK — (UP) — Billy Conn has gone one step further in his invasion of the heavyweight ranks.

The light heavyweight champion of the world, shooting for a bout with Joe Louis, won a dullish 12-round decision last night from Henry Cooper, a full-fledged heavyweight, before a sparse crowd of 5,658 persons in Madison Square Garden.

Conn won the way he always wins—with a picture book left jab, a hook that strikes like a rattlesnake and a right that comes through fast as lightning.

But the old sockeroo, the leather lullaby that makes 'em pay 25 bucks to see Joe Louis go six or nine minutes still isn't there. Last

'Not A Worry In the World'-Reds-

CINCINNATI (AP) "Not a worry in the world." If Bill Klem stepped out behind the plate to umpire and yelled, "Play ball!" the Cincinnati Reds would put out a team able to do a lot of defending of last year's world championship.

Seventeen contracts, the latest Bal Goodman's, in the safe and almost every one signed by someone who'll be pulling weight in 1940, is the front office record at a time when tactless people elsewhere ask, "Have you a little holdout in your house?"

Not all positions would be filled by this winter team. Billy Myers hasn't reported back again on what he thinks he ought to be paid for shortstopping, and Catcher Ernie Lombardi hasn't been heard from at all. Frank Gabler's left field beat, which presumably will be filled by Vince DiMaggio for the luck of Max West of Morris Arnovich.

The Reds have had singularly little trouble with hold-outs in recent years. Paul Derringer was about the last of the breed around here. He tried it in 1937 and both he and the Reds went to blazes.

NO HOLDOUTS? OH, YEAH!

SAN FRANCISCO— (AP)—Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati Red catcher, has returned unsigned his 1940 contract which reportedly reduced his salary of $20,000 by $6,000.

"I'm not mad at General Manager Warren Giles, but I can't figure where I'm entitled to a cut like that," he said.

Then again, everybody likes to think of the $4,000-to-$5,000 bonus that another pennant would bring. Barring that, there's cigaret money just for finishing in the first division.

So with the Reds, there is more to think about than the figures they put in your contract. All this may be old stuff to the Yankees over in the other world but it counts high around Cincinnapolis.

Myers doesn't qualify yet as a holdout. So far there has been only an exchange of views by mail. Possibly another dime spent on a special delivery stamp will bring him around.

One reason why everybody seems satisfied this year is that the club went a little out of its way to make everybody satisfied.

Ritz Nite Club High With 2926

Hipp, Leppo Set Pace as Team Adds 1010 Score, Three Wins Over Lutz Lumbers.

SLAMMING out games of 935, 1010 and 981 for a 2926 count, the Ritz Nite club held the spotlight in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night.

The Ritz club was led to three victories over the Lutz Lumbers by Farrell Hipp, who collected a 631, and John Leppo's 601. The Lumbermen compiled a 2776 total.

Funston's All-Stars pounded out a 2796 series, which was good for a clean sweep over Weidner's Pontiacs. Ray Friday of the All-Stars was high for the night with a 633 count. Harold Selby contributed a 622, closing with a 242.

* * *

The Ingram-Martin Oldsmobiles came through with a 2744 score and a clean sweep over the Greystone Nite club.

BILLY CONN WINS FIRST BOUT AS HEAVYWEIGHT

night proved it, for Conn hit Cooper with everything except Promoter Mike Jacobs' store teeth during the 36 minutes of action.

The total damage was a slight cut over Cooper's left eye. Cooper never was in distress, not even when he took seven left jabs in the face in succession without laying a glove on Billy or even getting his hands high enough to start a punch. He was bewildered and baffled, yes, but not hurt and he came out of the flurry of punches to bull Conn against the ropes until the backs of Billy's legs wore red welts.

Conn started slow, as usual—he never gets under steam until about the sixth round—and Cooper actually won the fourth, according to the United Press score sheet.

Billy, weighing 173½, gave away 16½ pounds in this trial run to see how he would do against the big boys. The result was that he spent a lot of time against the ropes, but he always was able to fight his way out.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

A Startling New Development in Motor Fuels Brings You—

TWO NEW GASOLINES

—that give you an Extra Margin of Performance at no increase in price

—that save you even more on Stop-and-Go

NEW SUPER-SHELL

You'll FEEL the outstanding performance of this advanced new gasoline the first time you step on the starter.

From that moment on, you'll find that NEW Super-Shell will meet the toughest tests you can think of—for EVERY driving condition. Test its higher anti-knock on the steepest hill you can find. Test its swift and surging power as you glide from first—to second—to third. Test its mighty reserve of energy—its instant response—as you step ahead of other cars.

Test it for EVERYTHING—including economy—because you'll find this NEW Super-Shell saves you even more on Stop-and-Go.

You're right! It DOES cost more to make—but it costs you no more to buy it.

NEW SHELL PREMIUM

You'll say that the NEW Shell Premium is the finest gasoline ever to bear the Shell name. And you'll be right!

It comes straight from the same Shell research that first produced 100 octane gasoline—the gasoline used in today's racing planes.

Made for those engines that have unusually high anti-knock requirements—and for those who want the utmost in quality—the NEW Shell Premium, although it costs more to make, gives you an EVEN WIDER MARGIN OF PERFORMANCE at slight additional cost.

This spectacular advance made by the same talent...the same company that...

1 FIRST SPONSORED ANTI-KNOCK RESEARCH... Under the sponsorship of Shell, Harry Ricardo discovered principles that made modern high-compression engines possible. His experiments in flame propagation and action of aromatic hydro-carbons led to development of Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" in refining.

2 FIRST TO RE-FORM GASOLINE... Many of the great advances in gasoline refining have come from Shell's laboratories. Here was developed the "BALANCING PROCESS," that saves you money on Stop-and-Go. Here a large staff of skilled scientists maintain a tireless search for ways of producing ever better petroleum products.

3 AND NOW* SHELL'S BALANCING PROCESS SAVES YOU MORE MONEY ON STOP-AND-GO... Basis of both the new Super-Shell and the new Shell Premium is the "BALANCING PROCESS." This means that no one essential quality is emphasized at the sacrifice of another. Thus—when you start—shift gears—accelerate—or travel steadily every drop of motor fuel is completely usable.

Greater Performance— no increase in price

"Honest, these two new gasolines thrill me as much as they will you. And—if you think I'm too enthusiastic—come in and test a tankful. I'd like you to be the judge."

Hull Flays Trade Pact Critics, Pleads for Renewal

HITS 'MISUSE' OF FACTS; U. S. BENEFIT CITED

Says Markets Expanded; Asks O. K. on New Treaties to Aid World Adjustment.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Ascribing "flagrant and unscrupulous suppression and misuse of material facts" to critics of the reciprocal trade program, Secretary Hull declared today it had expanded markets for American farm and manufactured products.

He appealed to the house ways and means committee to renew the expiring trade agreements act in order to aid in worldwide economic readjustment after the European war.

"The choice before us," Hull said, "is whether we shall lead the way toward the slough of despair and run for ourselves and for others, or toward the heights of economic progress, sustained prosperity and enduring peace for our nation and for the world."

He took issue with members of Congress who are demanding senate ratification of each agreement, by asserting that the method followed in state department negotiations "is democratic in every sense of the word."

In concluding the pacts, Hull said, in his statement opening congressional fight on the issue, American tariffs have been lowered only where they are "unduly burdensome" and where other countries have agreed to accord better treatment to United States exports in return for tariff adjustments.

'Benefits Demonstrated.'

"Many of those who are now insisting upon advising American agriculture in opposition to the reciprocal trade policy, which has demonstrated its benefits to agriculture, were among the identical persons who advised the farmers in 1930 that the Smoot-Hawley act would bring them permanent prosperity, whereas under such advice the farmers of this nation were piloted straight into unprecedented bankruptcy," Hull declared.

"I dare say that the farmers will think twice before accepting a second time such reckless advice, supported by still more reckless statistics."

At the end of 1932, Hull said, "after two and one-half years of Hawley-Smoot tariff embargoes" farm cash income had dropped from $11,200,000,000 to $4,700,000,000. By 1938, he said, it had risen to $7,600,000,000, excluding benefit payments.

Gum And Popcorn Men Say They're Needed At Fairs

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Take it from Nate Cohen, the guys who hawk the pennants, canes, gaily-colored nats and candy cotton are the financial backbone of many a county fair.

"Why, without us, half of them couldn't operate," Nate exclaimed today. "They know it, too, for they've tried it."

Cohen is president of the Ohio Concessionaire association. An operator of restaurants and refreshment stands, he has been feeding fair visitors all over the country for 39 years.

The Concessionaire association, meeting in conjunction with the Ohio Fair Managers' association, was established a year ago and represents more than 250 of Ohio's 481 concessionaires.

It is trying to get a better deal from fair managers in general. It feels that concessionaires' contribution to progress of agricultural exhibitions has been sorely underestimated, and that the operators of the merry-go-rounds, the ferris wheels and side show attractions have been subjected to unjust increases in fees.

Cohen asserted that many fairs received more in concession fees than they did in gate receipts.

Dr. D. R. Talbot is usually a pretty handy chap around a motion picture projection machine, but he ran into a case of trouble last night. Assisting Dr. E. A. Smedal, who showed pictures of a South American cruise to the Gyro club, Dr. Talbot discovered at the end of the second reel that he hadn't fastened the film securely to the receiving reel, and as a result the entire 500 feet of film laid in a tangle on the floor. With some help, Dr. Talbot got it all re-wound—but it took patience.

OHIO'S SCHOOL PROGRAM HIT

Official Says System Needs Revamping; Describes It as Antiquated.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The state school foundation law was called "antique" today although the program has been in effect only four years.

An education department spokesman suggested revamping the system to provide five-year vocational high school courses and to include the first two years of college work in high school curricula.

"The foundation law is antiquated," the spokesman said. "It was written to correct a condition that no longer exists."

The law assures expenditure of at least $45 a year for each elementary pupil and $67.50 for each high school student. Additional expense is borne by local school districts.

Costing the state almost $50,000,000 annually since Jan. 1, 1936, the school foundation program had a deficit of $17,447,000 early last year. A $1,000,000 reduction was made in 1939 and $2,180,000 more will be paid off this week.

"There has arisen a demand for extended school training since passage of the foundation law," the education department official asserted. "There is a large percentage of unemployed who fall between the ages of 18 and 21—persons who have been graduated from high school and are unable to find work.

PICTURES EXPANSION OF ARMY AIR CORPS UNDER NEW PROGRAM

Speaking before a crowd of aviation enthusiasts which filled the auditorium at Mansfield high school last night, Captain H. F. Gregory of the U. S. Army Air corps, outlined the general functions of the corps with particular emphasis on the Materiel division, the headquarters of which are at Wright Field, Dayton.

Capt. Gregory, who is stationed at Dayton, explained that the national expansion program which will be completed within the next two years, will increase officer strength by 90 per cent and the force of enlisted men by 140 per cent.

The program will see a tripling of the number of flight squadrons and the establishment of new air bases in Alaska, Porto Rico, Panama, New England, and Florida, he said.

At Wright Field, where 2,400 civilians and 150 officers are stationed, a $3,000,000 expansion is now under way, Capt. Gregory added. Detailing the activities of the Materiel division, he recounted that specifications are set up, materials for the entire air corps are purchased, and general maintenance provided by the division.

Capt. Gregory showed three silent films, "Wings of the Army," "Army Pilot Training," and a selection of spectacular shots from news reals dealing with aviation throughout the U. S.

He was introduced by James R. Harrington, manager of the municipal airport. Harrington reviewed the Civilian Aeronautics authority plan for a ground school and pilot's training course to be given here.

The meeting was sponsored by the Mansfield section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and arrangements were in charge of W. B. Johnson.

The meeting was presided over by Henry Herbig. Galion, chairman of the Mansfield section of the A. I. E. E., who announced that Dr. J. O. Perrine, associate editor of the Bell System Technical Journal, will be the speaker at the next meeting at the high school auditorium Feb. 28.

SEARCH ENDS IN PITTSBURGH ROOMING HOUSE

Man, 27, Charged With Bigamy; 18-Year-Old Wife Says She "Won't Go Back."

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH — Annie Hutchinson, 18-year-old Canton school girl, her husband, Don Stone, 27, of Canton, and two others were held here today as fugutives, with Stone facing bigamy charges.

The girl, object of a tri-state search after her disappearance Dec. 1, was found in a rooming house.

Henry Armstrong, Canton detective, said Stone married the girl in Youngstown, O., Nov. 25.

In Canton, the girl's mother, Mrs. Annie Marshall, declared herself "overjoyed" that her daughter had been found. She added she had filed a bigamy complaint against Stone in Youngstown.

"I don't want to go back," the girl screamed as she was arrested, "I want to stay with my husband."

She indicated, however, she would waive extradition, but the husband and the others—his mother, Mrs. Edna Stone, of Clarion, Pa., and another woman—planned to fight removal to Ohio.

Cites Extortion Note.

Armstrong said if the couple refused to go to Canton, he would turn an extortion letter over to the bureau of federal investigation. The note, postmarked Akron and demanding $2,000, was received by the mother shortly after the girl vanished.

The detective declared the girl resisted arrest after being found hidden in a clothes closet. Stone was seized after leaping out a window.

The two women had been held previously in Canton, but were released Jan. 3 after questioning. The F. B. I. was called into the case after the mother received the note which read: "The purpose of this is revenge."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Varsity Thinking Won't Take Place of Football Competition at Chicago

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—We-all 'tater-hoin', God-fearin' Americans are not a-goin' to take kindly to the abandonment of intercollegiate football by the University of Chicago.

If there is anything a little more American than anything else it is intercollegiate football, and this decision to haul down the grand old flag, so to speak, looks like the work of the dirty Communists. I would not be surprised to learn that it was inspired and engineered by the same cunning plotters who seduced that illustrious, stall-walking, intellectual alumnus of the Midway, Mr. James Vincent Sheean, to sign a manifesto exculpating Moscow, just before Josef Stalin took a full swing at Finland and missed.

In speaking of Finland the adjectives "brave," "poor" and "glorious" are to be taken for granted. I call Finland Finland for short only to save tolls.

The trouble with the University of Chicago is that the students have gone in too much for high-pressure thinking. I once sat in on an evening of mental scrimmage there under the direction of Head Coach Robert M. Hutchins, the grand old man of ratiocination, and it was easy to see that this was a killing game for young and immature minds. They would read a passage out of an old thought-book, and the grand old man, or wizard mentor, or ratiocination would call on one member of the squad to tell what this thought meant.

That was not so bad. That was just straight-away, longshoreman's thinking. But then they would ask the student to tell what it meant sidewise, backward and upside down, and before the poor kid was excused for his shower and rub they would have him doing half-gainers, spinners and standing-sitting jack-knives over some proposition that never should have been given a second thought.

The thinking squad staggered out of the room groggy, and it is no wonder that so many letter-men and women of the thinking squad left U. of C. with cerebral trick-knees and thought with a decided limp in after life, especially on rainy days.

Some veterans of intercollegiate football write an annual magazine piece, usually entitled "Was It Worth It?" in which they take occasion to remind a forgetful public that they really were All-Americans long ago. They then dug up all the old cases of charley horses, twig-fracture and cauliflower cerebellum that have occurred in football in a quarter-century and cry "no" a thousand times.

They were young and dumb at the time, and they thought the glory, the varsity letters and clippings which they accumulated were worth the risks and hurts.

Now, however, they are wiser, and so they decry football, but they nevertheless preserve as priceless trophies to be handed on to their sons, if any, the dusty helmets and cracked old football shoes which they wore on the varsity and their football letters and scrapbooks.

They do this in the identical spirit of those retired brigadiers whose only distinction was earned in war and who delighted in war but now decry it as a beastly business, yet cherish their medals and brittle old citations from the commanding officer.

Much that passes for college thinking in reality is nothing but worrying, and the graduates of the schools which produce good football teams are quite as happy and as useful for all practical and spiritual purposes as the furrowed and thought-scarred veterans who are emerging from the University of Chicago. The European schools have always emphasized thinking, and the result is told not in progress or happiness but in the war news today.

In this country the University of Wisconsin, Chicago and the City of New York are proud of their indifference to football and noted in equal parts for their feebleness at the game and the number of perambulating headaches which they have inflicted on the nation.

No Communist ever made All-America or even earned a varsity letter, and the memoirs of the college Communists show that they all are misfits and much disliked in school and plainly suggest that the males were jealous of the campus hero and the females jealous of the cutie with the swell pair of legs who strutted with the band between halves.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

(The screen writer—"A Man to Remember," "Five Came Back," "Bill of Divorcement," etc.—takes up the cudgels in defense of something—for vacationing Robbin Coons.)

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood is a city built upon legend. It deals with legends, and its citizens, to the best of their abilities, live legends.

However, there is one legend which has gained currency and authority to the point where it directly affects me, and thanks to the courtesy of Robbin Coons, I am going to do my level best to disprove it. This is the legend of Hollywood stars, directors and writers rolling about the countryside in $10,000 limousines; supporting a mountain home, a city palace, and a beach cottage of 22 rooms.

It is not enough simply to say that such a picture is false. The only way that the legend can be shattered is to relate the routine of one man. Since I am the only man whose routine I know intimately, I must beg you not to consider me egotistical if I use myself as a case history representing hundreds of others.

I am a writer. You have probably never heard of me, not because I don't work, not because I don't produce a good many pictures, but because you are not interested in reading titles and the studios are not interested in publicizing writers.

As a writer I must face the fact that I will have a professional career in pictures lasting about 10 years. Four of those years have already been spent. Hence I have six years to go. I earn a salary many times that of a good worker in most other industries. Since my career is of such short duration, I must necessarily be recompensed by a much higher salary than the man who lives next door to me who can work a lifetime.

In order to earn this salary I am awakened at 7 a. m. by my secretary and a cup of coffee. I dictate steadily until 9:15. Then a quick shower, no breakfast, and I arrive at the studio at 10. Officially my hours are from 10 to 5. Actually I am at the studio many nights until 11 and there have been a few times when I spent the night there, getting perhaps an hour's sleep before a 7 o'clock rising. In a year I produce an average of six motion picture scripts, three original motion picture stories, two magazine stories and one full-length novel. The last novel, which you probably didn't read, was "Johnny Got His Gun."

Don't get the impression that I am complaining. I like my work and as long as there's a job for me I shall be in no other kind of work. But I do seriously resent—along with hundreds of other writers, directors and actors—being classed as a social orchid, dining on nightingales' tongues and sipping ambrosia at the Trocadero with 38 beautiful chorus girls until 3 o'clock every morning.

By the time the industry has found a fresher, younger talent to supplant my own, I hope to have enough money to support myself, my wife and my daughter in a modest style. I must get that money in the next six years.

Robbin Coons, who knows more about Hollywood and its ways than any correspondent I know of, will probably accuse me of using his column for propaganda. But I am sure of one thing—that he will agree with me that the creative workers of Hollywood desire no higher title than that of Honest Workman. Furthermore, they work hard enough to deserve it. Believe me, our swimming pools are not gold-plated. Most of us don't even have one.

Dick Tracy—In a Trunk
